Seek Funds At Once To Build New Castle Postoffice

Appropriation For Post Office Will Be Asked

New Castle May Be Included In Cities Given Funds This Month

CITY ON PREFERRED LIST AT CAPITAL

Project Due For Consideration By Authorities This Month

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5.—With the renewed activity for carrying out postoffice building projects in the nation, New Castle's long deferred postoffice building seems to be nearing a point where there will be some favorable action that will result in actual start of the work.

New Castle is now on the preferred list of the Federal building program and congress will probably be asked sometime this month to authorize an appropriation for commencement of construction of the proposed new post office for the city, it was learned at the Treasury Department today.

Congress last year authorized the expenditure of $200,000,000 for the construction of new Federal buildings in a certain group of cities, including New Castle. At that time, a tentative limit of cost of $355,000 for the New Castle structure was approved. No money for the commencement of the new post office was appropriated however.

New Castle On Early List

The joint building committee of the treasury and post office departments is now drawing up a list of new Federal projects for which funds will be asked this month, and New Castle is being considered for a place on this list.

L. C. Martin, chairman of the joint building committee said today that New Castle could be considered as being on the preferred list, and while he declined to state definitely that New Castle would be included within that group of cities for which funds will be asked this month.

A diligent housewife remarks—"If the men had to wash the windows and dust the houses and scrub the floors, they would right soon find a way for the mills to eliminate smoke. Party Leadership Bothers Congress

Political Independence And Disdain Of Leadership, Features In Congress

Seldom In History Of Congress Has Such Dissatisfaction Been Shown

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Political independence and disdain of party leadership among both the Republicans and the Democrats emerged today as the most conspicuous and significant feature of congress' first week of work.

Seldom in history has there existed such a state of dissatisfaction with party leadership at the outset of a session. Frequently there has been disaffection in one party or the other, but rarely in both at the same time. The leaders contemplate the situation with dismay and misgiving. What it augurs concerning the legislative program only the future can tell.

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Details were being worked out today on a plan whereby merchandise certificates will be issued by leading business houses to their employees in place of Christmas bonuses as a means of relieving business conditions.

The plan will be put into immediate operation in the hope that it will produce an immediate effect in the direction of returning prosperity. The merchandise certificates will be redeemable at nearly all the larger stores in the city and the committee in charge believes that their use will put into circulation money which would ordinarily be taken out of circulation indefinitely.

Rabbit Hunters Find Missing Airman Dead At Controls In Swamp

Was Prominent In Radio Circles In Cleveland, Local Relatives State

Search for William M. Griffin, of Berea, O., who has been missing since November 24, when all trace of him was lost after he took off in a plane from Hamilton, Ont., for Cleveland, was ended Thursday afternoon, with the finding of his body in a morass near Brocton, N. Y.

Griffin's body, was discovered amid the wreckage of his tiny monoplane, plunged deep in the soft turf. Two rabbit hunters who discovered the missing plane and pilot, notified the county coroner of Chautauque county, who established identity of the body.

Made Own Plane

The plane, which had been designed by Griffin himself, had evidently been forced down out of control. The airman was still at the controls, showing that he had made a last desperate effort to regain control of the machine.

Mrs. W. R. Newell of North Mercer street, an aunt of Griffin's wife, stated today that they would attend the funeral for the deceased pilot, who, with his wife had visited here only recently. Both were well known in New Castle through visits at the Newell home.

Mrs. Newell stated today that Mr. Griffin was a talented musician, and had frequently broadcasted from Cleveland stations. He was an accomplished singer and besides, played a number of instruments. He generally wrote his own sketches.

Government Contends That Air Is Still Free, Chicago Firms Protest

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Who owns the air?

This question was brought squarely before the Supreme Court today in two cases which may decide the whole future power of congress to regulate radio broadcasting.

The government, through solicitor-general Thacher, went into the court declaring that the air is still free, that no one can own the mysterious elements that make possible the wonders of radio.

Attorneys for three Chicago appellants—American Bond & Mortgage Co., Trianon, Inc., and Clinton R. White—took a different view. They have acquired a property right to broadcast, which they say the government can take from them.

Hundreds Of Youngsters Will Attend Benefit Show

Better tell the youngsters tonight what canned goods they can take tomorrow morning for the benefit matinee in the Penn Theatre. Either tell them or else. The youngsters are going to be at the show, and if the interest manifest last night after the appearance of the article in the News is any criterion, there is going to be plenty of cats stacked up in the ware room of the Penn Theatre, for the use of the Mayor's Relief Committee.

If you didn't read last night's News, the idea is this. A special morning matinee of Harold Lloyd's "Foot First" will be presented in the Penn Theatre at ten fifteen o'clock, for boys and girls under fifteen years of age. Admission is not in money, every child must have some article of food to get into the show.

Canned Goods Preferred

Canned goods are preferred. A can of beans, or peas, or a case of olives. A tub of butter or a jar of cherries. Anything at all goes, and loose foodstuffs are acceptable also, but not as preferable as those canned.

New York Police Hunt Fugitives

Desperate Manhunt Is On For Men Who Escaped Asylum

NONE OF FUGITIVES RECAPTURED YET

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—One of the most desperate manhunts in the history of New York City was on today as police moved to close in on six lunatics who escaped from the Matteawan Hospital for the Criminal Insane after three gunmen, one a former inmate, invaded the institution and overpowered three guards.

One positive clue that a member of the demented gang was in New York has been revealed to the authorities. Frank Vanderkuylen, murderer and acid thrower, is known to have attempted to visit his wife. On the certainty that Vanderkuylen cannot be far from this city guards have been thrown about the Children's Aid Society, to which Mrs. Vanderkuylen and her two children have been removed.

Two Killers Free

Meanwhile the knowledge that another demented killer escaped in the cunning sortie was causing police to redouble their efforts. Besides Vanderkuylen there is at large Harry Gordon, 38-year-old "butcher killer." Gordon, a paranoiac, labors under the delusion that it is his task to wipe out the sins of the world with blood. His commitment to Matteawan was caused by his murder of two fellow butchers in Rochester.

The fire department has announced its entry into the man-hunt. According to the fire department, Anthony A. Alloy, 44, another of those (Continued On Page Two)

Buildings in Pyu and smaller towns collapsed after a series of three separate shocks, and railway lines suffered severely. A greater death list and additional property damage was feared in remoter sections, into which relief squads have not been able to penetrate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Congress sped its legislative machinery today in the hope of passing measures authorizing expenditure of not less than $175,000,000 for unemployment and drought relief before Christmas these funds may be only the beginning of a congressional program. Gunmen Get Payroll Sum

P. A. A. Paymaster In Pittsburgh Is Robbed This Afternoon

(BULLETIN)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—Two bandits held up the paymaster of the Pittsburgh Athletic association today as he was paying off employees, and escaped with about half of the bi-monthly payroll amounting to several thousand dollars.

Samuel P. Cornell, paymaster, refused to divulge the amount of money which the two gunmen scooped up before they fled.

Cornell was standing back of a bar in the office's dining room where about 30 people were eating. The two men strode into the room and commanded him to hand over the money.

One of the bandits grabbed a large envelope containing the remainder of the payroll. The two ran to the outside of the building where they were joined by a confederate who was stationed as a lookout.

Police and detectives believe the gunmen were familiar with the payroll-off method used by the association. They went immediately to Cornell's cage upon entering the building. Almost 100 employees of the organization had received their salaries when the bandit pair entered.

So quickly was the robbery perpetrated that the guests in the dining room were hardly aware of what had taken place until the robbery was completed.

at large, is one of the most dangerous pyromaniacs that ever came under the scrutiny of police and fire investigators.

Every police officer who ever met any of the fugitives has been assigned to the hunt by Commissioner Mulrooney. Descriptions of the insane men have been broadcast throughout the East.

Dangerous Men

Joseph Kaylor, 36, another of the escaped lunatics, charged with burglary, arson and possession of fire arms, is considered even more dangerous than Alloy. Kaylor is known as a pyromaniac who is not adverse to varying his activities with robbery at pistol point.

If the men have separated police expect the most difficulty in locating Joseph Biggins, 30, and John F. Gambill, 23, both of these men show the least outward evidences of insanity, and were confined to the institution for robbery. Gambill, however, has a propensity for assaulting his victims.

William F. Nelson, who led two gunmen to the hospital and engineered the break, escaped alone last November 19. He was charged with robbery, larceny, assault and receiving stolen goods.

Dr. Raymond K. B's statement that Nelson came only to free Biggins and took the others with him as a magnanimous gesture today assumed significant proportions. There is the possibility that Nelson, a fence, and Biggins, a thief, may have been pals in former days, police said.

The wife of Loyola Hicks, the village banker, died, leaving a will in which she devised certain sums to certain relatives totaling several thousand dollars. But even though Mrs. Hicks had left a will the fact was that she had no property except that which she held jointly with Mr. Hicks. Nevertheless, Mr. Hicks, out of love for his deceased wife, entered into an agreement with the supposed beneficiaries named in the will that in consideration of one cent and the love and affection he bore his deceased wife, he would pay them the sums she had specified. And for a time the matter was left to rest here. But time went on and the days drew into months, and still Mr. Hicks made no payment.

At last he frankly announced that he would not pay. The supposed beneficiaries were first disappointed and then angered, and finally they went to court.

WHO OWNS THE AIR? ARGUMENT QUESTION

In two separate cases, which the seventh circuit court of appeals found so complex that it certified them to the high court for decisions.

The radio commission, relying on the federal radio act of 1927, denied renewal licenses of WBBM and WOK, owned by the Bond & Mortgage Co., and Trianon, and reduced the power of Clinton White's station, WORW.

The appellants contend that because they made large investments in radio apparatus before the radio act was passed, they have a vested right. If this contention is upheld, attorneys for the government say the federal radio commission will lose virtually all control over regulation of broadcasting.

Cannot Be Controlled.

Solicitor-General Thatcher, in his brief, said:

"The doctrine of prior appropriation can have no application to broadcasting, because, the ether, whatever its unknown physical properties may be, cannot be appropriated, possessed, owned or controlled."

"Even the courts are powerless to protect appellant's asserted right to exclude others from its use. Foreign nations may invade with impunity his alleged right to broadcast without interference on the wave length he employs."

Two Texas stations, WRR and WOAI, now are operating on the same frequencies as the Bond and Mortgage and Trianon stations.

ALL ARRANGEMENTS FOR BENEFIT GAME SATURDAY, COMPLETE

In order to accommodate fans from the Seventh ward, who were demanding tickets, they were placed on sale yesterday at Hyde's drug store, where they may be secured until tomorrow.

Interest Is Keen

If the weather is at all favorable, the biggest crowd that has witnessed a game at Taggart Field is looked for. Faculty Manager Ralph Gardner of the high school stated that approximately 1,000 tickets would be taken by the students of the city, which will swell the crowd considerably.

Unusual interest has been manifested in the game, not only because it is a benefit contest, but also due to the fact that it is the first Alumni game which has been staged for a number of years.

Many of the fans have been clamoring for this game because they wanted to see their heroes of years gone by in action again, and their wish will be fulfilled tomorrow.

The stadium has been well filled by rabid followers of the team for two evenings, another crowd of several hundred being present last night to watch the old grads practice.

The entire proceeds of the game will be devoted to aiding worthy school children of the city, and will be shared by the parochial schools as well as the public schools.

Those who have not already secured tickets can obtain them at the Sporting Goods Store, Love and McGowan's, Terminal Drug Store and Hyde's Drug Store.

Chester, and New Castle are the only two Pennsylvania cities being considered by the joint committee for inclusion in the list of building projects along for which appropriations will be requested late this month. It is possible that both of the cities may be included or that one will be eliminated.

Probably New Building

The joint committee as yet has not decided whether the present post office and site will be sold and a new building constructed on a new site, or whether the present building will be enlarged. It is probable that an appropriation will be asked for the city with the understanding that a new building will be constructed on a new site.

Representative J. Howard Swick, today arranged a conference for next Wednesday noon with Major Ferry Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of the public building program, when the congressman will urge inclusion of New Castle within the list of cities for which appropriations will be asked this month.

Mr. Swick, said today that he would endeavor to have the $355,000 tentative limit of cost of the New Castle post office increased to $450,000 would be sufficiently large to provide the correct type of building but points out that any greater increase would probably be denied.

Mr. Swick, said that he might request Postmaster Crawford to come to Washington for the conference with Major Heath next Wednesday.

STAR LORE

ANOTHER MARVEL IN THE NEW ASTRONOMY

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter.

When a locomotive whistle is sounding while approaching you, the shriek rises in pitch. If the whistle continues as it passes by, the tone falls to a lower pitch. This is because the waves produced by the tones are crowded more closely together between the whistle and your ear when approaching, and when the whistle is leaving you the waves are elongated. Light waves coming from a star work in the same manner, except instead of being recorded by the ear, they register in the spectroscopic. Waves from an approaching star are shortened and so shifted toward the violet end; a star receding lengthens its light waves and so shifts toward the red end of the spectrum.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 5.—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, famous Australian aviatrix who became lost last week on an attempted hop from Havana to Miami, and who was forced to land on Andros Island in the Bahamas, returned to Miami this morning.

The woman flier was a passenger in a plane flown by Donald Van Deweter. Captain Lancaster, Mrs. Keith-Miller's business manager, also was a passenger. They landed at the Curtiss Air field at 10:18 a. m.

The landing of the plane at Curtiss Field took newspaper reporters, who were waiting for the arrival, by surprise, since they had not expected the plane to land there.

Hopping out of the plane, Mrs. Keith-Miller rushed to the immigration office, declining to be interviewed until she returned.

Repairs have not yet been completed on her plane, The Bullet, on Andros Island. It had been expected that Mrs. Keith-Miller would fly her own plane back to Miami.

The funds would be kept distinct and the city and county would maintain their own payrolls.

To Employ 100.

Council instructed their solicitor, Robert White, and Councilman Treser to confer with County Solicitor J. P. Lockhart and county commissioners as to the legal phases involved and a working plan after which Councilman Treser stated he proposed to put 100 men to work Monday morning. The men hired will receive three days work a week, he stated.

Councilman Genkinger said Treser had studied the cards and had given the situation thorough thought and was to be commended. Councilman Reeves made a similar statement. Treser developed the liability of compensation if any men were hurt. The city carries its own compensation.

Treser said the amount required for immediate purposes would be $10,000. Solicitor White said his plan would be to appropriate the county money, $70,000, to general improvements so that the council would be required to pass the necessary legislation.

Reeves favored turning over $20,000 of the conduit money to the general improvement fund.

Councilman Burns said he would oppose that as the city would not get 50 cents worth done for a dollar. Reeves stated: "I know that."

Treser stated: "Why not appropriate $10,000?"

"That would be all right. If more is needed we can appropriate it," answered Burns.

White explained to Mr. Burns that "the mere appropriation does not spend the money. Appropriations do not go over but if you split up the fund it loses its identity."

Burns then offered a motion that council adjourn until 3 o'clock this afternoon when an ordinance covering the situation could be submitted rushed through and passed finally Tuesday.

WINDOW BROKEN BY UNKNOWN PERSON

Officers Hagan and Suber were called on last night to investigate the breaking of a front window of the home 9 East Clayton street. Arthur Hill, 3½ West Home street, reported to the police last night, that he was enroute south on South Mill street at the Maxwell Coal Yard when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 9757G came out of the Coal Yard and he was unable to avoid hitting this machine. There was some damage done to both machines.

Deaths of the Day

Time of Camblin Funeral.

The body of Mrs. Mary E. Camblin has been brought to the Jos. S. Rice company chapel, East North street, and may be viewed here by friends. Funeral services will be held from the chapel Saturday, December 6, at 3 p. m. with Dr. W. E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating, and she will be laid to rest in Graceland cemetery.

Mrs. Camblin, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Keener, 704 Summerlea street, Pittsburgh, December 4, was born at Millbrook, Mercer county, November 22, 1842, the daughter of Henry and Sarah Pearson Humphrey, and had been a resident of New Castle for the past 40 years, having come here from Mt. Jackson. She was preceded in death in 1910 by her husband, John L. Camblin, a veteran of the Civil war and a member of the famous Battery B of Mt. Jackson.

Mrs. Camblin was a pupil of the old Reynoldsdown school and had taken pride in attending all the reunions of the former pupils. Last summer Mrs. Camblin fell in her home here and suffered a fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain. She was removed to the home of her daughter in Pittsburgh and had fully recovered from the accident and was able to be around the house when four weeks ago she stooped over to pick something up in her room, was seized with a spell of dizziness, fell and broke her hip and this was the direct cause of her death.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. William Keener of Pittsburgh, Mrs. George Blouse of Harlow, Mont., and Mrs. Arthur Kelly of Goffstown, N. H.; four grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Martin of Volant and Mrs. Viola Cox of New Wilmington; and a brother, Harvey Humphrey of North Liberty.

Omer Burnett, Sr.

Omer Burnett, Sr., aged 54, died at his home, 412 West Grant street at 8:45 this morning, following an illness of several months.

Mr. Burnett has been a resident of New Castle the past twelve years and was an active member of the Second Baptist church. He was a member of the Seven Cross Lodge and F. & A. M. of Indianapolis, Ind.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Supporia Burnett; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Hall and two sons, Omer, Jr., and Lewis of this city; a son-in-law, Burrell Hall, and one sister, Mrs. Effie Robinson of Indianapolis, Indiana.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

seven prominent Democrats immediately after election, and against the senate leadership of Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas finally became so pronounced that Senator Morris S. Sheppard of Texas felt impelled to issue a public statement asserting that he was for Robinson's re-election as leader.

No Change Likely.

Sheppard was one of the two members of the Democratic steering committee who voted against seating Senator James J. Davis (R) of Pennsylvania, within an hour after Robinson had announced that the steering committee "unanimously" voted not to oppose the ex-cabinet officer. On that vote 18 other Democrats refused to follow Robinson's leadership despite the "unanimity" of their steering committee.

It is not likely there will be any change in the leadership at this session, but the disaffection in Democratic ranks is none the less very real. Its manifestations probably will be confined, however, to voting on specific questions rather than in inter-party organization.

The Republicans are in just as bad, if not worse, shape. They have on their hands the insurgent group of from 12 to 15 members who cannot be controlled and who vote as they please in any and all questions quite irrespective of party policy.

Independence Shown.

As an example of independence in voting yesterday in the senate on the recommitment of the aPrier bill to put auto-bus lines under control of the interstate commerce commission came near being a classic. The bill was recommitted 51 to 29 which probably kills it for this session. In the minority were found some strange political bed-fellows. Both Senator Watson of Indiana and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the respective leaders, were in the minority, and Dwight Morrow's first vote, along with those of Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, the insurance leader; Senator Shipstead of Minnesota, the Farmer-Labor party's lone representative in the chamber; such Republican regulars as Shortridge of California and Kean of New Jersey also were in the minority. It was a strange vote.

BALDWIN CLASS FETES MARY RALPH CLASS

A Yuletide air of jollity and gaiety pervaded the dining room of the Highland United Presbyterian church Thursday evening as each member of the Baldwin Bible Class escorted a member of the Mary Ralph Bible class to the dining room. The Ralph class members were guests of the Baldwin class in a get-acquainted dinner and social meeting.

The dining tables presented a beautiful appearance with their suggestions of the Christmas season, crystal trees, frosted small Christmas trees and red candles artistically decorated with pine being used down the centers of the long tables, places being arranged for 100.

After the seating of the guests, Mrs. Mary Ralph invoked the divine blessing and Mrs. H. S. Kison, in an original verse welcomed the class and congratulated Mrs. Ralph, the occasion being her birthday.

At the conclusion of a most delicious menu the classes went to the church parlors where an entertainment was provided by Mrs. H. S. Christman, who presented a troupe of Girl Scouts, who displayed the work of their organization. Games and stunts of various kinds then were a means of getting the women better acquainted with each other.

The gathering dispersed at a late hour with the Mary Ralph class members thanking the Baldwin members for a flawlessly delightful evening.

The credit for the success of the event is due the presidents, Mrs. R. D. Rhodes, the teacher, Mrs. Thomas Lindsey and the committee: Mrs. H. Halley, Bertha Rhodes, Mrs. Hartzell Houston, Mrs. H. R. NEW CABINET MEMBER

DESPITE the opposition of the American Federation of Labor, President Hoover's appointment of William N. Doak to succeed James J. Davis as secretary of labor has met with general public favor. That the appointee is fully qualified to sit in the president's cabinet and counsel the chief executive on questions pertaining to labor seems to be acknowledged by all who know and taken for granted by those who do not.

The new secretary rose from the ranks of railroad labor to a position of trust and responsibility in the organization of his trade, and has demonstrated upon occasion when public interest was at stake a breadth of mind and vision which the office demands.

Organization policy dictated the opposition of the American Federation of Labor to the appointment. Its chiefs realize the advantages of having one of its own members in the cabinet, and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen is not affiliated with the federation. Other factors controlled President Hoover, who demonstrated that neither individual nor organization holds a monopolistic privilege or claim upon the portfolio of labor in the cabinet.

In naming Doak the president has recognized organized labor as well as one of the largest and most important of labor groups. It is fitting if not inevitable that the third secretary of labor should be a railroad man, following a coal miner and an iron worker in succession.

PARTISANSHIP TO HOLD UP U. S. WORK?

Partisanship dies hard. An agreement between Republican leaders and Senator Robinson, Democratic spokesman on the floor, to cooperate in the passage of bills to relieve unemployment already strikes a snag. How serious the snag is remains to be determined.

The president in his message asked maximum appropriations of $150,000,000 to accelerate for the next six months public works already authorized. These works are in the hands of different governmental departments. His plan contemplates distributing the money among the departments "upon recommendation of a committee of the cabinet and the approval of the president."

Immediately there arises objection. Representative Byrns, Tennessee Democrat, calls the proposition "astounding and unprecedented." He is the ranking minority member of the appropriations committee, and his contention is that his committee should have the say where the funds are to be used. Representative Garner, Democratic leader of the house, insists that explanations concerning the allocations will be required. "Congress knows as much about spending money as does the president," he says, "and if he expects to get that much he will have to show what he is going to do with it." And so it goes. The question which will have to be fought out, first in the appropriations committee, is whether the president or congress shall direct expenditures.

Considering that the government is now engaged in constructing public buildings, dredging rivers and harbors and offering aid to states in building good roads, along with other activities, and that the purpose of the appropriations is to speed up these projects and put thousands of more men at work, it would seem as if the president's policy is the common-sense method of procedure. But partisanship refuses to look at it in that light. The extent to which obstruction will prevail will shortly develop.

And partisanship is also found pursuing another course. Senator Pat Harrison, Mississippi fire-eater, asserts that the president has no conception of existing conditions in this country. Coming from the source it does, the assertion must create smiles. In all the history of the nation there has never been such a concentration of expert minds summoned by an executive to meet a problem of this nature. If Mr. Hoover is not capable of dealing with it no one else is, for no one else is possessed of the information that is his. According to Harrison, the tariff bill caused all the trouble—trouble which is world-wide and which is far worse elsewhere than in the United States. Harrison must be in training for the vaudeville stage.

The gentleman from Mississippi is joined by others of his Democratic colleagues in assailing the president for failure, as they claim, to suggest anything constructive. One wonders what any one of them would do were he in the white house. Demand tariff repeal, perhaps; abolish the farm board; hand out debentures for farm exports. Heaven only knows what. Fortunately the administration of public affairs is in the hands of Herbert Hoover, for which fact, in the existing emergencies, the country should be profoundly thankful. He doesn't lose his head, which can not be said for Pat Harrison and his followers.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE PEACE AWARD

For the third time the Nobel prize for the greatest contribution to the cause of world peace has come to an American. Woodrow Wilson deservedly had it. Elihu Root received it for many years of valiant and inspired work in behalf of world peace. The third member of this distinguished triumvirate is Frank B. Kellogg.

Former Secretary Kellogg's contribution is modern history, known to every citizen at all informed on national and international affairs. The Kellogg pact was a notable achievement culminating a long personal fight to outlaw war. It furnished a fitting climax to a peace crusade which began during the League of Nations controversy in the last years of the second Wilson administration when Kellogg sought through compromises to make ratification possible in the senate.

Earlier recognition was given the former secretary of state in his appointment to the permanent court of international justice at The Hague. He was the logical choice to represent the United States in that tribunal.

America can best express her appreciation of this honor bestowed upon one of her citizens by ratifying the protocols and entering the World court which President Wilson made possible. Root helped to frame and Kellogg fought for.

Dear Hints and Dints: Some amusing things about our American kitchens occurred to me in my recent inspection of the various kitchens in two divisions. The "home kitchen" has canned goods exclusively. The "outside kitchen" located in restaurants, cafeterias, hot dog stands, delicatessens, etc., sometimes provide little cooking, but not always. What wonderful evolution in kitchens since the days the first pilgrims arrived! Why, I can remember way back when about all we did with a can was to "rush it" to the corner thirst emporium.

"THAT MARRIED LOOK"

I don't believe it, but every woman I've asked says it's true. They all said, "I can always tell when a man's married." How do they do it? How can they tell?

They don't know. They can't explain. But they say they can. They insist that a man who's been married any length of time at all has a "married look."

But what is a "married look"? Nobody's been able to tell me. Is it a hurried, hasten-to-agree-with-you air? No, of course, not! Many married men are happy or arrogant and show their disposition in their faces. It isn't that, exactly.

Is it a look of seriousness and responsibility? Well, hardly, many married men take their responsibilities lightly. Well then, is the married look an air of being "settled for life"? Goodness no, the fussiest set-in-his-ways man on earth is likely to be an old bachelor.

So it isn't any of these things then? No, it is something quite different, difficult to put into words, hard to pin down, but something that every woman recognizes the instant she sees it on a man's face.

If a man's single any woman knows it, and if he's married he has a "married look" that's as obvious as a red nose or handle-bar moustaches.

But I don't believe it. And I've yet to see any other man who does, either. I guess we're dumb. For that isn't a "married look" we men usually wear. It's just out natural meanness showing through.

Envy and hate and greed Dox at his heels all day; Beset by every need He walks a troubled way. Wise must be to use Fortune supremely well. Which do and which refuse No sage can truly tell.

Wealth is the poor man's hape. Gold opens peace. Light where he now must grope. Freedom, release From all the thoughts of care, Struggle and strain; Fortune would make life fair, Soothe every pain.

But this the rich man learns. Wise must be, Folly but sorrow earns. Blunders bring misery. Strange though the fact may seem, No life is wholly fair—Wealth is the poor man's dream, (Copyright, 1930, Edgar A. Guest.)

Help the Other Fellow

What is the matter with you, anyway, that you won't let your shoulder to the wheel and help while the other fellow is working at the job? You may be a pretty good worker yourself.

You may take his place and work well when he falls down exhausted. But why don't you see where and how to lift, while the other is exerting himself to the utmost?

No, you won't co-operate. You fear that others may get credit for your efforts and you want the credit if there is any.

But, even you are not a success working alone. Then what is the trouble with you that you can't get at it in time to help someone else put things over?

Does the sight of another man's sweating brow comfort you? Why not join hands with him and sweat a little yourself?

Good cause, good work needed, a helping hand and you withhold it. You make it harder for yourself and all concerned as well as more expensive because you won't exert yourself when you see others at work.

The man who stands ready to lend a hand is the sort to tie to. He is a winner and he helps others to gain success.

General Ban On Immigration Has Strong Public Support

Arguments In Favor Of Senator Reed's Proposal Are Based On Protection Of American Labor And Prevention Of Suffering Among Incoming Workers

The proposal by Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania that all immigration be cut off for the next two years, with only a few exceptions, is meeting with approval in many quarters. The exceptions to the suggested exclusion would be "unmarried children under 21 years of age, husbands and wives of American citizens, and the parents of citizens of the United States."

"Unanimous approval in both houses is anticipated by some of these favoring the proposal," states the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS, which thinks that, "For the good of the country as a whole, from the labor standpoint, congress should ban" the MANCHESTER UNION considers the step as "both logical and reasonable" and predicts that "it will doubtless receive unanimous support."

"The situation is not at all complicated," reasons the DANBURY NEWS, "we have in the United States some 122,000,000 people; from three to five millions of them are out of work. Shall we import those who would swell the ranks of the jobless? Or shall we shut the gates for a time?" asks this paper, and answers, reasons: "Common sense says 'Shut the gates.' That's what Senator Reed proposes and it is a good, proper, and also the DE-TROIT FREE PRESS, in whose opinion, "it is only sensible to prevent further increase of the population of the country through influx until the present unemployment ends, and the country is running prosperously once more. Nothing is to be gained for anybody by allowing continuance of the incoming stream of aliens, as long as there is nothing for newcomers to do after arriving; and the more quickly and the more thoroughly an emergency lid is clamped down, the sooner the economic situation is likely to warrant lifting it again," declares this paper.

The NEW ORLEANS ITEM sees "no feasible argument against such a suspension."

The history of the United States in the matter of welcoming the stranger is a generous one, many papers point out. As the ALTOONA MIRROR says, "From the beginning our gates have remained open to all comers without inquiring too carefully concerning their antecedents or their qualifications for citizenship." The LANCASTER INTELLIGENCER JOURNAL considers that "it is unfortunate that America (The United States) has to close its doors to those of the world who seek better conditions or more freedom of thought and action, but times have so changed that there seems nothing else to do."

Considering the matter from the point of view of the immigrant the DULUTH HERALD argues: "Until the labor already here is fully employed, it seems a needless cruelty to permit hopeful seekers from other lands to come in and meet the disappointed inevitable in an overloaded labor market."

WHEELING INTELLIGENCER looks with favor upon "the prevention, for two years at least, of hundreds of thousands of new aliens coming to the United States annually to swell the ranks of unassimilated citizens and jobless workers, from which criminals are usually recruited." The HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH advises that it is "better to think of those born in this country and those who have come here with reasonable expectation of improving their condition than to open the gates to the entry of thousands of others who will leave work at home in a vain search for employment here." The PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL would provide for Americans "before more workers are permitted to come here."

Among these papers that question the wisdom of the ban or are frankly opposed to it is the RICHMOND NEWS LEADER, which says: "The gain to America, in any case, will not be great, and the ill-will that will be engendered by exclusion may be a serious matter. The first restrictions on immigration, though among the most salutary laws passed by congress since the war, made many enemies for America, especially in southern and southeastern Europe argues this paper, which continues: "It contends that 'the tariff has increased the number of those enemies everywhere. Complete exclusion would add to prejudices that are all-too-easily translated into trade boycotts,' it concludes.

Recalling the attacks that have been made on the restrictive immigration laws now in effect, the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL says: "Today it has come at last to be generally accepted, and any departure from it should be discouraged." This journal sees in the proposed new law an entering wedge for demands of another nature some time in the future, suggesting that the time might come "when employers of labor, discovering a shortage of that commodity" would demand "and with likelihood of success—that the quotas be doubled for a year or two. That would be bad for American labor, as labor itself can readily see. Men once let into this country, if they behave, can stay," it warns.

The objection of the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE to the proposed new law is that "the 'public charge' clause of our present immigration law, if conscientiously enforced at all times, would automatically meet the demands of varying labor conditions in this country; and it suggests that "under present circumstances it would not be unreasonable for the government to insist that every alien admitted be able to show sufficient financial resources to sustain himself for a stated period of months or even for a year."

In the viewpoint of the CHATTAHOOGA TIMES, one "argument against the proposal is that it would prevent increase in demand for food, clothing and other supplies by just so much as the number of immigrants excluded, and that increasing demand is certainly one way to relieve unemployment. All of which could seem to indicate that the Reed plan involves a question of relatively which one of the seven men who understand Einstein's theory might be able to answer" this paper concludes. Meanwhile there is the opinion of the NEW YORK SUN, "It is apparent that the resolution will not accomplish exactly what its proponents suggest; elimination of alien competition with the American worker, even more drastic remedies." The LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL finds authority in the state department for the belief that already "the consular service has greatly reduced the number of incoming aliens and has kept out of the country those who might become public charges."

Further steps are urged by the LOS ANGELES EXPRESS, which assails the large number of aliens smuggled into the country, and advises that "all that are in the country illegally should be found and deported."

GLASS
The first industrial enterprises attempted within the present limits of the United States was not the manufacture of gunpowder, nor flintlocks, nor hunting knives. It was an article that may seem a superfluity to colonial life as we moderns think of it. It was none other than glass.

Now an industry which annually produces in the United States more than enough of this necessity to cover a roadway of twelve feet wide around the world, had its start only one mile from Jamestown, in the colony of Virginia, in 1607. Captain John Smith, himself mentions the colonial glass industry in his "History of Virginia." It is interesting to observe further that the first exported shipload of American manufactured goods contained glass.

The making of glass holds the same place in the world's history as does in the history of this country. In fact, glass has been made for so long that there is no definite knowledge as to its origin. A bit of philosophy in the Bow of Job reads: "She cannot be estimated after gold or glass." And Pliny credits the discovery of glass to Phoenician sailors who used dumps of natron instead of cooking stoves.

A Roman Emperor is said to have beheaded a man who invented mail-glass, since "the precious stuff would not longer be valuable as tribute from his conquered enemies."

ORIENTAL BAZAAR COLORFUL EVENT

When one entered the parlors of the Epworth Methodist church on Thursday evening he was immediately transported to the Orient for a colorful scene greeted the eye as one looked down a street of oriental beauty, the booths being attended by salesladies in the native garb of the country they represented. Particularly entrancing was the booth presided over by Mrs. H. Abraham, who garbed as a Syrian queen, dispensed articles of real oriental manufacture. Edgar Sherbine, as a Jewish peddler, dispensed his articles from a tray and much merriment was caused by his manner of salesmanship.

Particularly impressive was the desert scene, with growing cactus, a camel and a native Egyptian gazing in awe upon the hand painting which had been cleverly placed, depicting the three wise men and the Star of Bethlehem, the star being illuminated to bring out the beauty of the painting.

Supplementing the bazaar was a chop suey supper, the dining room of the church being decorated as a Chinese pagoda and supper being served to 135 persons.

Root Of Child Delinquency Is Traced To Home

Defective Family Relationships Are Blamed For Most Trouble

RECOMMEND COURSE IN MENTAL HYGIENE

(International News Service)
BOULDER, Colo., Dec. 5.—The root of juvenile delinquency is in the home, according to the report of three doctors in the department of psychiatry of the University of Colorado.

Defective family relationships such as separations, foster parents, quarrelsome and unstable relations between parents, were accompanied by other factors, such as a lack of fundamental habit training, difficulties regarding discipline, lack of organized play outlets, lack of actual work and a lack of a share of the responsibility of the home.

Of the 100 delinquents studied in the State Industrial school at Golden, Colo., 54 were found to have come from homes that had been broken up.

Drs. Franklin G. Ebaugh, George S. Johnson and Lawrence F. Woolley, psychiatrists connected with the university, made the study, which appeared in the current issue of the University of Colorado studies.

Fundamental emotional needs the feeling of security of sense of "belongingness," the opportunity for normal growth and development, companionship and idealization of parents, were found to be lacking in the cases studied.

The study was financed by Mrs. Alice Bemis Taylor of Colorado Springs, head of the Alice Bemis Taylor foundation for child guidance.

A complete program of education in mental hygiene for parents and teachers was recommended.

Baby Tennis Competes With Midget Golf

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 5.—A new game, invented in the North of England, is challenging the American invasion of midget golf here.

This game is played with two rackets and a shuttle, but, unlike Badminton, without a net. It can be played both indoors and in the open air, and the main object is to catch the shuttle in a cup on the back of the racket, which requires a quick eye and a deft wrist.

For the outdoor game the base of the shuttle is pneumatic. The absence of a net makes it a very fast game, with plenty of opportunity for rallying.

The cheapness of the game is giving it a tremendous hold wherever it has been introduced. It is played with enthusiasm between acts at every London theatre.

Says Women Best Auto Drivers

(International News Service)
PARIS, Dec. 5.—Fewer French women than men fail at their first examination for a driver's license, according to deputy-chief Sternbeck, Fernor, who controls the examination of candidates in France. This, he declares, is because most women are careful not to tackle the examination until they are very sure of themselves and also to the fact that they have more nerve than the men.

They have more determination and this is what carries them through in a large majority of cases. Women too, according to the deputy-chief, have fewer accidents than the men and it is very rarely that a woman's license is withdrawn from her.

Among the men, doctors prove to be about the worst drivers and all intellectuals particularly nervous and lacking in decision.

King Carol Shows His Royal Hand

A red-headed woman, Mme. Lupescu, is again causing trouble. It has been reported that the Titian-haired beauty, for whom Carol II of Rumania renounced his original rights to the throne, has been installed as chatelaine of his palace at Bucharest, to the horror of his subjects and the humiliation of the royal family.

Grapefruit-Lemon Hit Of Flower Show

Park Superintendent Discovers New Kind Of Citrus Fruit

(International News Service)
SANDUSKY, Ohio, Dec. 5.—At the annual chrysanthemum show here lion's share of the attention was attracted by a group of orchard specimens obtained by crossing lemons and grapefruit.

Superintendent of Parks Jacob Roth is the discoverer of the "grapefruit-lemon," as he terms the new fruit.

"It has a flavor that is pleasing and while it is a lemon, still it isn't," Roth declares.

Other claims Roth makes for the new fruit are:

That a "grapefruit-lemon" pie will lessen one's appeal for a regular lemon pie.

That "grapefruit-lemonade" is better than regular lemonade.

"Grapefruit-lemons" cannot be substituted for grapefruit," Roth says. "It's a lemon but not a grapefruit."

The blossoms on the trees look like orange blossoms and give a fragrance much like that from an orange tree.

Try New Signal System In Germany

(International News Service)
STETTIN, Dec. 5.—Experiments are being made on a stretch of railroad in this section with intermittent light signals at unprotected grade crossings.

As long as the way is clear a white light flashes 40 times a minute. When a train is approaching a red light flashes 80 times in a minute.

The light is switched on and off automatically by a contact on the rails. The difference in the duration of the flashes is intended as a protection for color-blind motorists.

DIES OF WOUNDS GOTTEN IN MEXICO

Nearly 600,000 acres in North Sumatra were devoted to rubber this season.

Scene Shifts to Ontario

It is a far cry from the gold fevered year of 1849 and the gold fields of California to the ice-bound regions of Elk Lake, Ontario. Yet the same air of excitement prevails at the Canadian gold strike. Above is pictured J. M. C. Dunlop breaking up some samples of quartz from the stony hillside.

Hungry Burglar Gets Dog Biscuits

(International News Service)
ALLENTOWN, Pa., Dec. 5.—Police here are looking for a burglar, apparently hungry and evidently headed for the dogs.

The burglar broke into a freight car standing on a siding near a local baking plant. In a cartful of biscuits, cakes and other delicacies the thief selected for himself a couple of packages of dog biscuits.

A checkup of local hospitals failed to disclose any clue to the burglar.

American Boy Is Subject Of Praise

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Dec. 5.—"There is no reason to worry about the modern boy in America. On the contrary he is the keener, brightest boy the world ever has ever produced."

The defender of the modern boy is Cameron Beck, personnel director for the New York Stock Exchange, visiting here.

Beck leaves no doubt as to his absolute confidence in the boys of teen age. He has 850 of them working for him now at the stock exchange, so his opinion should carry weight.

"This country," he said, "is not threatened so much with juvenile delinquency as with adult delinquency."

"A Rare Medicine"

Declares Prominent American Physician Who Tells Frankly Why He Advises New Flaxolyn Which

Brings Quick "Pep" to Appetite; Aids Stomach, Kidneys Liver and Bowels

Doctor Wants Every Person Here to Know About Wonderful New Way to Activate the Organs and Free the Body of Poisons from This Common Ailment

You can never tell—maybe all this "grogginess" and "knocked out" tiredness you have been suffering from, is just the result of repeated attacks of constipation, a common yet vicious disease in this country today.

Thousands of people who formerly found their energy being drained by this insidious ailment, now feel vastly improved, eat with heartier appetites, and sleep more serenely as Flaxolyn gets at the root of the trouble.

Dr. Christian Peterson (M.D.), Los Angeles physician of excellent standing, states in a recent letter: "I have used and recommended Flaxolyn with such good results that I am happy to permit my endorsement to be printed publicly."

"Flaxolyn gets results in surprisingly quick time in most all cases of temporary constipation and auto-intoxication, and it is a colon cleanser par excellence. Flaxolyn has my unqualified endorsement and I recommend it as the best herbal formula.

Flaxolyn has gentle diuretic action on the kidneys, to help the body get rid of irritating acids. Flaxolyn activates the liver's bile flow and the stomach's gastric juices, and pep up the natural muscle action of the bowels.

Please, for your health's sake, get a large economical bottle of the new Flaxolyn. Don't delay your greater enjoyment of life. Money back unless satisfied with your improvement by the sixth pleasant spoonful.

LOVE & MCGOWN
204 E. Washington St.

"This Formula Has My Unqualified Endorsement"

states Dr. Christian Peterson

"Mother Nature herself endows Flaxolyn with many of its health powers," one doctor has said. And this is true.

Flaxolyn is a combination of good old-fashioned sun-dried and air-dried herbs, with highly approved vegetable extracts, bile salts, and modern organic medicinals.

Leading doctors the world over, retained to give expert opinion of the Flaxolyn formula, enthusiastically praise its UNUSUAL merit.

Cancel License Of Insurance Firm

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—The Insurance Department has cancelled the license of the Hampton Roads Fire & Marine Insurance Company of Frederick, Md., and at the same time served notice upon the eighty-four agents of the company that their agents' licenses had been revoked. This action was taken because the department was advised by the Insurance Commissioner of Maryland that the company was insolvent, and with insufficient assets to reinsure outstanding obligations.

Denton S. Lowe, of 1400 Lexington Bldg., Baltimore Md. has been appointed receiver for the company by the Circuit Court No. 2 of Baltimore City. From the information supplied by the Insurance Commissioner of Maryland the status of policyholders is uncertain. The Pennsylvania Insurance Department advises policyholders to communicate with the receiver to determine if they are amply protected.

BOY SCOUTS WILL FEED WILD GAME

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—Plans are being made by many of the Boy Scout Councils throughout the State in the matter of erecting feeding stations for game birds and animals this winter. Apparently the feeding-station program is a general movement among the scouts judging from the number of letters being received at the offices of the Commission for copies of the free feeding bulletin. Game Protectors throughout the State have been instructed to furnish food to the scouts to maintain the stations throughout the winter months.

Whisky Valued At $75,000 Is Stolen

Hi-Jackers Enter Scranton Warehouse And Steal Valuable Liquor

(International News Service) SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 5.—A general police hunt is in progress here for hi-jackers who early today entered the warehouse of the Gentle Manufacturing Company and stole whisky valued at $75,000, according to a report to authorities.

When city police reached the scene they confiscated twenty-five cases of alleged liquor.

While police maintained silence on the case it was learned that a dozen men using automobiles bearing New York license plates entered the warehouse, overpowered the watchman and stole the liquor.

The most unfortunate thing about common sense is that it is so unfashionable.—The Grand Rapids Press.

Visitor Learns Kindest People Are Americans

(International News Service)

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 5.—"The kindest people in the world," he told a Denver reporter, "No European race can compare with them. Since I landed at Seattle, I have met with one kindness after another. Sometimes I think it is a dream—so much kindness and attention. And Mrs. Vasquez says the same thing."

"Say for me that the Americans are the kindest people in the world," he told a Denver reporter. "No European race can compare with them. Since I landed at Seattle, I have met with one kindness after another. Sometimes I think it is a dream—so much kindness and attention. And Mrs. Vasquez says the same thing."

The tuberculosis problem, according to Dr. Vasquez, has become serious in some parts of the Philippines.

"In some parts I would say that 20 per cent of the population are afflicted," he said. "Naturally we must fight hard and quickly. For that reason I am in this country, attempting to learn your latest discoveries and methods of combating the disease."

The University of the Philippines, Dr. Vasquez said, has done much to awaken among the Filipino a pride in their own institutions and to advance the study of medicine. As rapidly as possible Americans on the staff are being replaced with native physicians.

Relations between the islands and the United States were never more harmonious than at the present time, Dr. Vasquez believes.

"Take social relations, for example—40 per cent of my patients are Americans. Our people do not feel animosity toward you. They wish to succeed as you Americans succeed. They are anxious to be modern—to be able to use the latest scientific discoveries—to enjoy life in the modern manner."

From Denver Dr. Vasquez went to Chicago, Rochester, Saranac Lake, New York and Washington, D. C. He has a year's leave of absence from Manila.

Kreisler Has Flower Hobby

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5.—A hobby for carnations and roses was revealed here by Fritz Kreisler, famed violinist during a recent visit to Portland.

The noted musician also told of a longing for outdoor life, hunting and fishing and even expressed a desire to try and bag some of the bears and cougars of the wild west's fast diminishing herds.

The two extremes were typical of temperament of the dean of concert virtuosos.

"Outdoor life appeals to me and I enjoy hunting and fishing," he said. "But above all I find pleasure in watching things grow and especially beautiful flowers. However, the credit for our beautiful home surroundings must go to my wife for she is an expert floriculturist. The pity of it is that we have so little time at home."

"In Europe we haven't the big game of the Pacific Coast, like bear or cougar, and I would love to try my luck if time permitted."

Kreisler was optimistic over mechanical music and the resultant demoralization among the music profession. He declared people as a whole are becoming more music-minded which in turn will demand better living music and a greater personal participation.

Architecture Influences Style

(International News Service)

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 5.—Ionic "undies," Corinthian shirts and Doric hats are worn by the modern miss. Mrs. Frederick W. Haverkamp, architectural authority, told the woman's club here.

"Women dress architecturally and always will," Mrs. Haverkamp said. "Our mothers wore Doric footwear, sturdy and substantial skirts to the ground, looking like fluted columns. Ionic volutes for sleeves; they wore corinthean hats, foliage and feathers waving in the wind."

"But today we wear Corinthian footwear. All our frills and furbelows are on our feet. We wear inverted Corinthian caplets and call them uneven hem-line skirts. We wear Ionic scrolls for earrings and Doric hats, substantial, severe and squatly."

Grants Immunity To Pint Buyers

(International News Service)

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 5.—Anybody who wants to buy a pint of liquor against the cold of these fall days may do so without molestation, so far as Mayor J. Waddy Tate, "hot dog" city executive, is concerned.

"Hereafter the city prohibition squad is going to leave the one-pint boys alone," the mayor declared. "What we want to do is get the big fellow, not the man who delivers a pint at the time to offices and homes."

While making it clear that liquor law violations involving a pint or less would be ignored, the mayor at the same time deplored the employment of messenger boys on bicycles to make the small deliveries.

Rotary May Aid Cause Of Peace By Convention

Meeting In Vienna Next Year Expected To Promote Better Feeling

EXPECT 6,000 TO ATTEND GATHERING

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—When 6,000 business and professional men hold their annual Rotary convention in Vienna next June, they will accomplish much more in the development of understanding between the nations than ordinary tourist travel. Almon E. Bunn, president of Rotary International, stated here recently. "It is particularly opportune to hold our Rotary convention in Europe next June," Roth said. "It is growing more evident that the countries in Europe are seeking the solution of their economic and political problems in a spirit of harmony."

"There is ground for hope that the gathering at Vienna next June of Rotarian business and professional men with wide influence in their own political, social and economic circles, will stimulate this desire on the part of the nationals of all countries to work out their national and international difficulties in a spirit of cooperation."

"All nations are sharing alike in the disturbing consequences of the present world wide economic depression; to carry on constructively and steadily requires a leadership of a high order. The Rotary convention in Vienna will be another example of a calm and friendly discussion of affairs by men of 60 or more countries, all inspired by the same spirit of service though differing in many other respects."

"We plan, by the widening of acquaintance among business men of different countries, by the extension of personal friendships and by the development of increasingly higher standards of business principles, to give a world wide impetus to the solution of the business and community problems of the world. Last September I advised the Vienna Rotary Club to make preparations to receive a gathering of 3,000 Rotarians from North America, 2,000 from Europe and the British Isles and 1,000 from other parts of the world."

Tax Question Moot One In Indiana

(International News Service) INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 5.—Whether Indiana shall have a State income tax will be one of the chief questions before the session of the State Legislature which begins in January.

The Democratic State platform pledges an income tax and the Democrats control the House of Representatives, but by a narrow margin, the Republicans are in a majority in the Senate. Hence, much discussion is expected.

The income tax also may be supplemented by some form of sales tax, according to indications.

These proposals are advanced as a means of lightening the burden of the property tax, which has been nearly universally condemned at all hearings of the State tax survey committee, which is studying the general taxation problem.

Shaw Says He Was Born Too Soon

(International News Service) MALVERN, Eng., Dec. 5.—"Born 50 years before my time" is the way George Bernard Shaw describes his present appearance.

So dissatisfied is he with the way he looks in a remarkable new talkie of himself which has just been made here that he is thinking of dyeing his beard, reducing the height of his impressive forehead, and undergoing a general course in rejuvenation.

But his opinion of himself is just as great as ever.

HEALTH RESTORED

Ten Herbs has restored many to long-sought health and strength by relieving such health ills as stomach, liver, kidney and bowel trouble, rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

MR. FRANK McWILLIAMS

"The improvement Ten Herbs made in my condition is remarkable," said Mr. Frank McWilliams, of Volant, Pa., (near New Castle). "For some time my system had been badly run-down, causing me to feel miserable. Food did not agree with me and my liver was badly disordered. I was so badly constipated that I had to use my hands to get it out. My system was continually taking a laxative. As a result that my whole system seemed to be filled with poisons and I began to get worse right along. After taking Ten Herbs, my appetite is much better and I can eat without having pains afterwards. My liver is active again and my bowels are functioning properly and the poisons seem to have been eliminated from my system. I am pleased to recommend Ten Herbs to anyone suffering as I was."

Ten Herbs is sold at Eckers of New Castle, Ind., 30 E. Washington St., and by all leading druggists throughout this entire section.

"There was a play of mine performed last night—the applause was tremendous" he says in the movie-tone. "It was so fresh, it was original, it was so new, it was so up-to-date. I wrote that play 33 years ago. What a pity that I was born 50 years too soon."

"I am seriously thinking of getting up a young appearance. I think I'll dye my beard; and this magnificent forehead of mine—so like Shakespeare's—which they are terribly jealous of at Stratford—well, I think I'll set that down a bit."

"You paid for the Shakespearean forehead and here it is again. The arrangement of my hair takes me twenty minutes every morning. To get it arranged for you to admire it adds greatly to my reputation as a playwright."

"I hope you won't look at me too particularly in the picture," concluded Shaw. "It makes me conscious of my teeth."

Puts Dead Beats On Par With Beggars

(International News Service) BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 5.—"A person who borrows and then fails to repay what he borrows is just as much a beggar as the man who begs in the streets," stated Dr. Ashley Leavitt of Boston University's College of Practical Arts and Letters in a talk to an assembly of students here.

Dr. Leavitt warned the students that all persons were made to be self-supporting under all circumstances and that many people beg their way through life without realizing that they do so.

Naval Head Says Giant Dirigible Will Fly In 1930

Rear Admiral Moffett Inspects Huge Ship At Akron

(International News Service) AKRON, Dec. 5.—Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the United States Naval Bureau of Aeronautics, indicated that the skeleton of the Navy's huge new airship being constructed by the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation would be complete by the end of this year, following an inspection tour made here.

The Rear Admiral's inspection trip marked the first time he had visited the scene of activities since November 1929 when he drove a golden raven into place, officially inaugurating the work.

According to present plans, the ship will be given its trial flight during the summer of 1931. When complete, it will be 785 feet long—the largest lighter-than-air craft yet constructed.

Finishing touches are being applied to the eight internal engine-rooms of the air Leviathan. The motors of 500 horsepower have been completed and are awaiting installation.

Twelve gas cells for the ship which is to be officially dedicated as "The Akron" are being constructed as soon as the skeleton of the ship is complete, the builders said. Construction work on the sister-

Harvard Loses Games By Inches

(International News Service) CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 5.—Luck, and bad luck at that, has caused Harvard to lose every big football game by inches this season.

The Crimson has been an "almost" team as the result of inches—A long forward pass that Vic Harding dropped by inches against the Army; Captain Ticknor's recovery of McCall's attempt to punt in the Dratmouth game for a safety instead of stopping a few inches inside the end zone for a touch-down; and the forward pass that missed by inches the eager hands of Barry Wood behind Michigan's goal line.

Inches football at Harvard this year has made it a season of "might-have-beens" for the Crimson.

THE PARTHAN SHOT The fatal word had just been spoken. The rejected suitor was standing before her listening to her elaborate explanations of her decision.

"I trust I have made myself sufficiently plain," she said. "Well, I would scarcely go so far," he answered, as his courage gradually returned. "It's only fair to give nature the credit for that," he added.—Calgary Herald.

Let's see, now, just how did that little scheme of Rascob's make everybody rich?

Airplane Aids In Taking Wild Horses

Use Plane To Locate Wild Horses On Desert Plains

(International News Service) PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5.—Wild horses are making a last stand in the great Owyhee desert of southern Oregon and a slice of Nevada and Utah. Modern methods, however, are fast making inroads in these wild speedsters of the open spaces. W. A. Dibble of Burns is now employed by a horse running outfit to speed his airplane over the desert and spot the roaming bands. At a result progress is being made in stamping out dourine carried by the wild horses.

Dibble can spot horses with an ease that saves days in time for the Myers outfit of 20 riders and 100 saddle horses. The camp immediately proceeds to the territory indicated and begins the work of roundup.

Saddle horses are run in relays to tire out the range animals. When a herd is rounded up the horses are taken to the shipping post, where blood tests are made. Those afflicted with dourine are shot and the others are shipped to horse meat plants.

Uncle Sam's edict that the range horse must go is being carried out but it is a sorry buckaroo who waves a last farewell to the Western freight that takes the mustang from the desert range forever.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Story, Poem Of Wee Tots Are Printed

Two Creative Children Encouraged By Dr. Myers

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

FROM IOWA a mother writes: "Dear Dr. Myers: Having read your request for stories told by four-year-olds, I am taking the privilege of sending one told by my four-year-old daughter.

"One morning she said to me, 'Mother, did you ever hear of the pony who lived all alone?' Of course I said 'No.' Then she began: 'Once there was a pony who lived all alone, all, all, alone. And he had nothing to eat. Nothing at all. But one day he went to his grandmother's and took her a nice basket of food. When he got there she was not at home. So he went back home. The next day he went again. And he took the food with him for his grandmother. When he got there he said: 'Here's some food for you.' His grandmother opened the basket of food—and when she looked there was no food. It was just a joke."

"I have read your latest book and am finding it very helpful. One can't find too much help these days. It is hard to be consistent. Especially when one is not well. I have a six-year-old boy who has never been well and who is so irritable and impatient about almost everything. How can I ever help him to the most needed trait—patience and self-control? I have found that when he needs punishment, a half hour in the chair or even 15 minutes has best effect. If it is only a matter of a few minutes he will laugh at it and say that it isn't much. Therefore, it isn't any punishment. I find that your methods are most all good if I can apply them consistently. Thank you for your help through this paper, and your book also."

Answer: Let me say to that mother, since she has such a keen appreciation of her children's creative powers, answering her questions kindly, manifesting rare patience, and clear analysis of her own problems, with much more ability to be consistent than most of us have, she hardly needs to do more than go on in her good ways, capitalizing upon her own successes and those of her children.

Another very sympathetic and observing mother writes from Atlanta, Ga.: "In a recent issue you requested poems or stories by little children. I am glad to send you one of each by my little girl of five. She was always standing on a high chair or some eminence, singing a composition of her own. Occasionally I wrote them in my diary. "My fairy lays her head upon my knee. My eyes are shining bright, I am resting by the sea. The angels are over my head; They lay their hands on mine." "Once there was a lady named Hanna and she didn't have any little baby and she went up to God's house and got her one. When he was old enough to button his own clothes she took him to Eli."

Urge Lehigh River As Class B Stream

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—A report was submitted today to the Secretary of Health, Dr. Theodore B. Appel, by C. L. Siebert, executive engineer, of the Sanitary Water Board, indicating that the sanitary survey of the Lehigh river has been concluded and that recommendations have been made to designate this river as a class B stream from Copely, to its mouth. The report also recommends that municipalities discharging untreated sewage into this river adopt necessary steps to limit this type of pollution. Industrial plants are also advised in this report to adopt methods for the purpose of removing in the very near future the objectionable characteristics of industrial wastes now being discharged into this portion of the stream.

Display Miniature Of Historic Fort

Model Of Fort Massachusetts Displayed In University

(International News Service) BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 5.—A model of Fort Massachusetts on reduced scale, is attracting much attention to the display window of the Boston University school of religious education, and gives observers an accurate idea of what the reconstructed fort will look like when it is built on its original site between North Adams and Williamstown.

This Fort figured much in the early history of Massachusetts Bay Colony, first as a frontier of westward emigration and later because of the conflicts between the Indians and Puritans. At one time it was commanded by Ephraim Williams, founder of Williams College.

More than thirty-five years ago public spirited women in that section began a movement which had as its purpose the rebuilding of the fort, but it was not until the tercentenary celebration that plans were initiated.

Fort Massachusetts, which is to be dedicated in a short time, is the third permanent achievement due to the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary, the others being the pioneer's village at Salem and the production of the Aptexet trading post on its original site at Bourne, on Cape Cod.

Officials See Workings Of Local Night School

Citizenship was seen at the source of supply Wednesday evening when members of the school board, Superintendent C. C. Green, and several officials of the Carnegie Steel Company visited the night school classes in the Lincoln-Garfield school, under the supervision of Principal James M. Hughes and Peter Griggs.

Demonstrations of work being done in five subjects were held, and in each demonstration the foreign born students amazed their visitors with the progress they are making. Spelling, English, Citizenship, Government, and Arithmetic formed the group of subjects and the results attained more than justified the existence of the night school.

Governmental Problems Problems in government seemed to be the one thing the night school students had studied the closer. How laws are made, how the constitution is amended, who the state and national officers are, these and a host of other questions were answered rapidly and in detail.

Spelling and English were two other subjects that brought surprising results. The men and women enrolled in the classes seem keen to learn the intricacies of the English language and to master the fundamentals of government sufficiently to gain citizenship here. To the visitors the time spent in the school was profitable and they expressed their appreciation.

The visitors included R. J. Tully, general superintendent of the Carnegie Steel Company, A. R. Mathieson of the Safety Department, J. Clarence Miller, local Safety Agent, Dr. C. C. Green, and the following directors: Daniel B. Woolcock, J. Herbert McIlvenny, Roy W. Hazen, A. C. Hyde and W. W. Duff.

Supl. Johnson urged the consolidation of schools in Pine township, pointing to the conditions existing there at the present time. The speaker urged the Boro of Grove City to extend its limits to include Pine township, if for no other reason than to improve the educational conditions.

McKEE FUNERAL.
Funeral services were held Thursday of Mrs. J. M. McKee, 73, of Grove City, in her home on South Center street at 2 o'clock. Mrs. McKee's death occurred Tuesday afternoon in the Grove City hospital following an operation. Mrs. McKee was a life long resident of Grove City and is known throughout Mercer county. Her husband preceded her in death five years ago.

Surviving are one son, H. F. McKee of Buffalo, three brothers E. E. McCoy, of Pittsburgh, T. J. McCoy of Farmington, W. Va., and Robert McCoy of Grove City.

SHUPE IS CAPTAIN.

Thomas Shupe, of McDonald, Pa., was elected captain of the 1931 Grove City football team at the annual banquet tendered the players, last evening by President W. C. Ketter.

Shupe is rated as an outstanding fullback in western Pennsylvania's small colleges.

TO HOUSE MACHINES.

In appreciation of the installation of voting machines in the six polling districts of Grove City the city authorities have informed the county commissioners that they will house the machines free of charge during the year.

The expense to the county in this installation is tremendous and the relief of this burden of expense is welcomed by the officials who are anticipating the purchase of additional machines as they are balloted on.

This is th' time o' year t' sharpen up th' brakes on th' ol' bus, so's t' be ready t' stop quick if a fool kid happens t' coast out onto th' street just ahead.

PROF. L. F. DERR

State Meeting At Wilkes-Barre

Pennsylvania Physical Education Association Members To Assemble

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 5.—Announcement is made by the department of public instruction that the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Physical Education association will be held in the Meyer high school, Wilkes-Barre, December 12 and 13. The central theme of the meeting will be "Health and Physical Education."

On the morning of December 12, the delegates will visit the Wilkes-Barre schools to observe the health and physical education work as carried on in that city. The convention proper will open at 2 p. m. The evening session will be devoted to a demonstration of physical education by Wilkes-Barre school children.

The December 13 meeting will be a joint affair in which the Wilkes-Barre city teachers will join with the health and physical education teachers in a teachers' institute program. Dr. J. F. Williams of Columbia university will be one of the speakers at that session. A part of the morning will be devoted to elementary and secondary section meetings; and the conference will be brought to a close with a luncheon for the delegates.

The program is regarded as so important a nature that many school administrators, class room teachers, and instructions of health and physical education will be present. Most districts in the state expect to send at least one delegate.

RESINOL HEALS BABY'S RASH

Doctor Recommended It

"A friend recommended Resinol for a rash which covered my baby's body. I thought that I had better take her to the doctor, however. After examining her the doctor looked up and said, 'Have you tried Resinol?' I hadn't so he said, 'Try it. I think you will find it is just what you need.' I did. Result—my baby is entirely free from skin trouble, rash, or any eruption of any kind. I always keep a jar of Resinol on my baby tray." (Signed)—

Blind Man Victim Of New "Racket"

Ingatiating Stranger Proves Meanest Man In Existence

(International News Service)
DENVER, Col., Dec. 5.—A blind man is the victim of the latest petty racket to make its appearance on Denver police records.

Earl J. Trotter is blind. He conducts a newsstand on one of the principal corners in Denver. There he works from early in the morning until late at night, gathering in the nickels and dimes of the reading public.

Many people pass by Trotter's stand, and occasionally stop to chat with him. Recently a stranger spent a good part of one day visiting with Trotter, working himself into the good graces of the blind man.

When he had been around the stand enough so the blind man recognized his voice, the stranger asked to have a five dollar bill changed. Trotter gladly accommodated him, and handed out five perfectly good dollars.

It was some time before Trotter discovered that he had taken in a one dollar bill instead of a five.

Philadelphia Has Financial Tangle

Faces Plight Similar To That Of Chicago Last Year—Much Tax Unpaid

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—Philadelphia faces a financial crisis similar to that suffered by Chicago last year, city officials asserted today, unless remedial legislation is passed by the next legislature or $7,000,000 in delinquent taxes is collected from 25,000 home owners.

An effort will be made first to collect the huge sum due the city because of failure to receive the back taxes. To this end notices have been mailed out that unless the 25,000 delinquents pay up immediately they face loss of their properties by sheriff's action.

The huge sum is for taxes due for the past several years and may be further increased $10,000,000 by unpaid taxes for the past year upon the closing of the tax office books for 1929 on January 1, next. City tax collectors pointed out, in demanding that the overdue taxes be collected.

Clark Asks That City Pay Damage

Says Fee Should Receive Same Treatment Accorded Other Parties

Attorney Samuel L. Clark today appeared before city council as the legal representative of John E. Fee who had a property damaged by fire more than a year ago. It was alleged at the time that the street employees had dumped screenings next to the building and a fire had started. Witnesses testified pro and con.

Clark brought out that the city had settled with two other parties who had material in the material destroyed and asked that the same treatment be given Fee.

He said the building had been repaired. He estimated the work cost about $400. Clark said he would offer a compromise of $200 for the city to pay and he would request the insurance company to pay the balance. No adjuster examined the building after the fire, he told council.

Councilman Genkinger said the city had no business to assume the loss but inasmuch as the city had paid others, Fee should be paid.

Councilman Reeves said he would like to study over the cost of the repairs. He took the position that he did not oppose payment but wanted to be right when he voted.

Genkinger said the screenings was placed next to the building but did not believe the fire started in the screenings.

Attorney Clark said he personally witnessed the fire and that he had arrived before the fire department and that the fire appeared to be coming from within. At that time he was not attorney for Fee, the late Captain A. Martin Graham having been his counsel.

Clark will present to council additional facts as requested.

ANOTHER DEER

Deer stories are becoming quite common and soon there will be venison dinners galore in the city. Another was brought home Thursday by Harry Miller of the Ellwood road.

His was a perfect specimen of an 8 point buck and weighed 160 pounds. He shot it near Benetett, Elk county.

Commission Urges That Congress Curb Growth Of Holding Companies

Need Legislation Against Holding Companies To Protect Public Interests

House Committee Already At Work On Investigation Into Activities

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Enactment of legislation for the protection of the public interest in the matter of so-called holding companies, was urged on congress Thursday by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its annual report.

The report said the activities of these holding companies in acquiring control of railroads had reached a point where a thorough investigation was necessary. Such an investigation is now undertaken by the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

New Information

"The investigation promises to develop much pertinent information which has not hitherto been made available in any authoritative or adequate form," the report said. "It may be anticipated that upon the basis of this information the house committee will be able at a comparatively early date to recommend such legislation as it may deem necessary for the proper protection of the public interest of the subject warrants the expression of a hope that such legislative proposals, if any, may receive early consideration."

The report pointed out that the railroads have experienced a heavy decline in gross and net earnings as a result of the economic depression.

With a fall of 14.2 percent in operating revenues in the first eight months of this year from the revenues of the same period last year, and with a curtailment of only 9.9 percent in expenses and taxes, the net railway operating income available for interest and dividends was less than $273,000,000 or nearly 33 percent for the 1930 than for the 1929 period.

Good and Bad Years

"If railway finances were suffering only from the fact that a recession in business is being experienced as in other industries of this country and of the world, it might be sufficient to point out that in judging of railway income our should in fairness consider the good and bad years together," the report said. "But a different and more threatening financial difficulty confronts the railroads this is the effect of the competition of other forms of transportation."

"The railroads are confronted with a steady lessening in the volume of passenger travel by rail and consequently in gross revenues from that source. The passenger revenue of 1929 was over $414,000,000 less than that of 1920. It is true that the freight revenue was $498,000,000 greater in 1929 than in 1920, but the prospect of further loss in passenger business is darkened by the competition of water lines, pipe lines and trucks, and by changes that may check the growth in demand for ton-mileage, such as economy in the use of coal, changes in the location of industry and the relatively slower growth of population."

Can Support Them

The commission said the country still needs the railroads and can support them.

It referred to its investigation of the coordination of rail and motor transportation and said it saw no good reason why this inquiry should operate in any way to postpone or delay the consideration of legislation for the regulation of the motor bus which is now pending in congress.

The commission said that since the issuance of its consolidation plan on December 9, 1929, nothing had been done by the railroads in carrying out the plan.

Oswego Wars On Liquor Making

(International News Service)

OSWEGO, N. Y., Dec. 5.—Enactment of the "most drastic prohibition law that can be drawn" has been demanded of the village board of this town by residents.

A majority of the 4,000 residents petitioned the board to commission the village attorney to draft the law, prohibiting manufacturing, transportation and sale of liquor within the village limits and providing drastic penalties for its breaking.

Feels Lonesome Without Holdups

(International News Service)

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 5.—It's getting so Jacob M. Middlekauf, owner of a filling station near here, feels lonesome without a few holdup men around.

In the last eight months, Middlekauf's station has been held up and robbed just 42 times.

And it was only the last time, of an early Sunday morning, that the thieves got nothing for their pains.

Hold Referendum On U. S. Chamber Of Commerce Policy

Vote Being Taken Among Various Individual Bodies Throughout Country

Individual and associate members of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, are being asked to vote in a referendum being conducted by the national body relative to the report of the special committee on National Water-power policies.

Fifteen questions are to be voted upon, and the vote is asked to be returned by December 22, 1930.

These questions are:

The committee recommends that federal and state appropriations should be increased:

That the Federal government should leave to the states, all possible control over utilization of water resources within the states;

That each state should have an agency to promote and regulate development of its water resources.

That the states should use compact among themselves for determination of their respective rights in boundary and interstate streams.

That through adequate appropriations and through methods of appointment and compensation for members and staff, state commissions should be enabled to discharge their duties with the greatest efficiency.

That state commissions should be authorized to initiate proceedings in which they may exercise their regulatory powers including proceedings as to disparities in domestic rates.

That every effort should be made by regulatory bodies and utilities to reach by agreement, the valuation to be placed on properties used for public service.

That interstate power, so far as now incapable of regulation states, should be regulated through concurrent action of state agencies made effective by the Federal Power Commission and only in the event of failure of concurrence on the part of the state agencies should be regulated directly by the Federal Power Commission.

That municipally operated utilities should be subject to the same regulation as privately operated utilities.

That the Federal Power Commission should avoid duplication by utilizing the field services of other agencies of the federal government.

That development and distribution on electric power is within the proper sphere of private enterprise.

That the Federal Government should leave the construction of dams and other structures and the generation of power to other agencies except where they are an essential part of national or international projects that cannot be successfully carried out by other agencies.

That the Federal Government should always leave the transmission and distribution of power to other agencies.

That the state governments should leave development and distribution of power to utilities which they effectively regulate.

That the Muscle Shoals project should be sold or leased, as is, on the best possible terms.

German Officials Face Dull Season

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—Germany's capital and the cities where State Governments are located are facing a dull winter season.

In view of the serious business depression and of the large extent of unemployment President von Hindenburg, the Reich and the State Governments have decided to cut social affairs to a minimum.

The cabinet ministers and the government officials announce that they will follow only the most important invitations for social entertainments, the attendance of which is required in the interest of the administration.

Hindenburg and the Reich and State Governments simultaneously with the announcement have appealed to private society circles to follow the administrations' example by equally reducing the number of social affairs.

Old Yale Landmark Saved From Wrecker

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 5.—The original building of the recently abandoned Yale library is being remodelled for use by the University Christian Association to replace Dwight Hall, torn down two years ago to make a better vista with Harkness Tower in the background.

Thus will Yale save a structure that is second in age only to Connecticut Hall, the former South Middle, in which Nathan Hale roomed in his Yale days.

The remainder of the abandoned library will be used temporarily for classrooms, and some day is expected to be razed, leaving the old section a perfect example of architecture of the 20s of last century.

Will Use Hogs To Rid Park Of Snakes

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 5.—Hogs are good for something besides pork chops and sausage. It appears from the announcement of H. H. Cleaves, land, director of the state department of public works and buildings, that hogs will be employed to rid the Mississippi Park of rattlesnakes.

The rattlers were discovered by workmen preparing the newly acquired park for public use and the hogs are expected, through their natural hatred of the snake, to give the ground a good policing. Goats are also to be used to clear up the brush.

Minister Urges Pre-Marriage Bill Of Health

Advocates Federal Laws To Insure Fitness Of Contracting Parties

COLUMBUS PASTOR PRESENTS DEMANDS

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5.—"We ministers ought to have the courage to demand of applicants for marriage that they have a clean bill of health."

With these words, Rev. Louis P.
Speaker, pastor of First English Lutheran church here, advocated from his pulpit that federal laws be enacted that will provide for health certificates for marriage.

"Along with physical fitness goes mental fitness," said Rev. Dr. Speaker. "If we think those who advocate sterilization of the mentally unfit are harsh and unfeeling and are interfering with personal liberty let us remember that society has its rights too. It is society that pays the bill and carries the burden of our insane institutions."

"Economic fitness is important.
Two cannot live as cheaply as one.
Regardless of what we think about birth control, it is near a crime to bring children into the world without affording them the opportunities of education and a start in life, to say nothing of feeding and clothing them adequately."

"And yet, I believe that most marital unhappiness comes from a lack of moral and spiritual fitness. A wrong view of marriage based on low standards is presenting to us this modern perplexity. Selfishness that is reflected in the limitation of freedom, in the gratification of personal impulses, without regard to the rights and privileges of others, is at the root of this evil."

"True love is essentially spiritual and must be based upon an intellectual comradeship upon mutual respect and admiration and genuine friendship."

"If young people regard marriage as merely a civil agreement by which they can live together, let them go to the state for the officiating agency.

If they desire the sanction of the church, through its ministry, let them first meet the demands of the church by being willing to discuss pertinent matters with the ministers in advance of the ceremony and by signifying their willingness to enthroned religion in the home and unite with some church."

Norman Bishops War On Women's Styles

(International News Service)

ROUBEN, Dec. 5.—War on women's fashions, as well as their morals is being waged by the bishops of Normandy in this district. They have recently issued a pastoral letter condemning in severest terms modern feminism, which they declare very often amounts to mere paganism.

Women are now wearing indecent clothes, they affirm, in spite of the new long frocks, and taking part in gambling and immoral dancing.
"Let the faithful avoid altogether whatever injuries good morals," the letter goes on to say. "Let them not attend theatres or cinemas unless they are of good reputation.
Let them completely avoid dances which are offensive to Christian modesty, and not as a rule, prolong even modest dances to the late hours of the night."

The letter goes on to urge the waging of a vigorous campaign against obscene books and postcards and the growing use of birth control.

Parrot's Vocabulary Loses Him Good Home

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 5.—Because he had a vocabulary that sizzled, a red-headed parrot at the St. Louis Zoo has talked himself out of a pleasant home in the Zoo's new Bird House.

The parrot, whose language was too strong for the ears of women and children visitors, has been removed from the parrot cage and is being kept in solitary confinement until he can be sold or given away.

The parrot came into possession of the Zoo about a year ago when the potticosis fright caused many parrot owners to get rid of their pets.

Pioneer's Gold Lost For Years, Found By Heirs

Woman Uncovers Several Cans Of $20 Gold Pieces
In Oil House

(International News Service)

SAGUACHE, Colo., Dec. 5.—Buried Treasures! Cans full of gold pieces. Hundreds of dollars, thousands of dollars, perhaps millions.
This was not fiction here.
Saguache was thrown into a fever of excitement over the discovery of a bona-fide treasure.

Mrs. Drucille O'Neil, widow of the late Johnny O'Neil, wealthy pioneer sportsman, made the discovery while cleaning out an oil house.

Johnny O'Neil, as it said, was well supplied with the world's goods. He was reported to have a substantial amount of gold when he died Feb.
25, 1927. He made no mention of his gold on his deathbed.

Although he hadn't mentioned it, no one doubted the existence of a vast fortune in gold somewhere about the O'Neil place. For months relatives dug and hunted all over the O'Neil place. After weary months of failure they gave up.

"It's there somewhere," persisted the old-timers, but the younger generation of San Luis valley, smiled.
"Just a myth," they said. "Another old settler's story, like the prospector's lost mine."

Gradually old-timers ceased to talk about Johnny O'Neil's gold.

And then one day Mrs. O'Neil was cleaning out an oil house, her broom struck a large can. It wouldn't move. Mrs. O'Neil stooped and pried up the lid.

There lay the O'Neil fortune in gold, hundreds of twenty-dollar gold pieces. Search revealed two more cans similarly filled.

Other heirs of the O'Neil fortune besides the widow include two daughters living in Saguache and Mrs. Blanche Lanson of Portland,
Ore., another daughter.

The amount of gold discovered was not revealed, but many estimated it high in the thousands of dollars.

SAYS EASTERNERS ARE BEING LURED BY WEST

(International News Service)

DENVER, Dec. 5.—The lure of the wide open spaces of the west is becoming harder and harder for easterners to resist, according to T.
Joe Cahill, Cheyenne, Wyo., executive secretary of the Dude Ranchers association. Reservations for the 1931 season are already far in advance of those recorded at this time of the year in former seasons.

Dude ranches are enlarging their capacity and several new ranches are being opened in preparation for next summer, Cahill said while in Denver recently.

Commits Murder For Honeymoon Cash

Bride Changes Mind After Future Husband Commits Horrible Crime

(International News Service)

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 5.—After he had committed murder to obtain funds with which to take her on a honeymoon, Mrs. Eileen Gray, 15-year-old bride of Ray Gray, decided that she could get along as well without him and is suing for divorce. Gray is in the Colorado state penitentiary serving a life sentence for murder.

On July 28, 1929, Gray and his bride drove to the lonely cabin of Seymour Burton, an aged recluse, near Craig, Colo. While his bride sat in the car Gray went into the old man's cabin and forced him to write a check for $500. Then he shot the man and hid the body in a nearby tunnel. The girl knew nothing of the crime, she claimed.

Gray failed to get the check cashed. He was arrested in Denver three days later. He told officers he wanted the money for his honeymoon.

Mrs. Gray, through her attorneys, has asked the county court at Littleton, near here, for a divorce and the restoration of her maiden name, Eileen Long.

Fat Men and Women At 42 This Will Tell You What To Do

Losing Fat Nowadays Easy—Inexpensive

If you at age 42 would like to learn how to lose the fat you hate —and no one else likes—do as I did —Take this 30 day test—

Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts—in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning—follow this advice. One woman lost 19 pounds in 4 weeks—another got rid of 47 pounds in 3 months—A New York woman lost 14 pounds with one bottle of Kruschen and is full of vim and pep, so she writes—

The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts is carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body, and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., or any live druggist anywhere in the world.

Mr. Herman Runkis of Detroit

a rheumatism sufferer—My first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all of the aches and swellings out of my joints—with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now feel like a new man."

Work Hard To Find For Women Over 30

French Women Have Hard Time Getting Employment
Despite Experience

(International News Service)

PARIS, Dec. 5.—After the age of 30, French women have poor chances at finding work. Dr. Lucile Long, who has recently made an extensive survey of the matter to find out exactly why the large majority of employers pick young workers in preference to those who have more experience, makes the following report:

"Women no longer in their twenties begin to complain of draughts, dislike fresh air and want the workrooms over-heated," says Dr. Long.
"They are cross when they are asked to do supplementary hours and insist upon showing that the work would have been done better in another manner. They always see a double meaning in the insignificant observations made by the men and are jealous of the favors shown to the younger and prettier jeunes filles."

Too often the older workers pretend that their experience gives them the right to have the easier tasks and time and again one finds them complaining for motives that would make a younger one blush.
If the woman after 30 finds difficulty in getting work these days, it is her own fault, say the employers questioned by Dr. Long.

Dry Agents Find New "Bait" For Fish

(International News Service)

DENVER, Dec. 5.—Something new in the line of fish bait has appeared on the market here.
Members of the Denver police vice squad, acting on a tip, visited the home of E. M. Riverbaugh, 54, who operates a fish bait store. The officers noticed a spot that had been freshly dug in Riverbaugh's barn.

Officers started digging "bait" and found ten pints of whiskey.

SPOTTED STOCKINGS

When your silk hose are spotted by a shower try this: Moisten your handkerchief or any small cloth slightly and wipe lightly over the spotted surface, using long, sweeping strokes from the ankle upwards. The stocking will become only slightly damp and one will dry while you are doing the other one. The spots will have disappeared like magic.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—With shipment for the 1930 season complete California's $350,000,000 grape industry was taking account of the benefits which accrued from Federal control.

With 128,000 persons dependent upon the successful sale of its product, interest was keen this year in the results attained by the new organization under which the Federal Farm board advanced millions of dollars to finance the marketing of the crop.

While prices obtained were not large, some measures of organization in marketing was attained, and the basis laid for future progress along this line.

Unusually heavy shipments toward the end of the season coupled with grape "racket" wars in the eastern marketing centers served to greatly diminish returns of the 1930 crop.

What its prosperity means to California business in general is evidenced by these comparative figures; the highest crop returns were in 1920 when the industry income was $85,000,000; today it has declined to $55,000,000, a loss of nearly one-half.

The average crop is about 1,750,000 tons, roughly divided as follows: One-fourth juice grapes, one-fifth table grapes and the remainder raisin grapes. For the present year the State Department of Agriculture estimate was 2,078,000 tons although this figure was materially reduced, by early rains, by the ravages of natural enemies of the fruit, and by farm board policies put into operation by the control board.

The acreage of grapes as of 1930: Juice 161,885, table 112,212 and raisin 244,903, a total of 519,000 acres.

Many Supply Food For Pennsylvania

Only Two States Fail To Send Food Supplies To Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 5.—The enormous consuming power of Pennsylvania has been illustrated recently by the fact that every State in the Union, with the exception of Rhode Island and Nevada, and many foreign countries ship fruits and vegetables into the Keystone state to feed the ten million inhabitants.

In carrot receipts of apples, cabbage, celery, grapes, lettuce, onions, peaches, potatoes and turnips, Pennsylvania ranked fourth of all the states in supplying these commodities to local cities during 1929, following California, New York and Virginia in the order named.

California is the chief shipper of fruits and vegetables supplying nearly 25 per cent of the nine products.

The Pacific Coast ships over half the oranges and cantaloupes used, as well as numerous other articles.

New York state receipts have declined steadily since 1924, according to D. M. James, of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Markets, while receipts from Virginia have increased. Maine, Arizona and Texas are other states which have shown a marked increase since 1923.

Buck Deer Loses Duel With Auto

(International News Service)

DUBOIS, Pa., Dec. 5.—An unusual duel with the strange participants of a young deer on one side and an automobile on the other was fought at this place not long ago.

The deer lost, but not before it marked its opponent up with injuries.

"Dick" Shoemaker was driving along about forty miles an hour in his closed automobile late at night, when the young buck, for some reason, sprang out of the nearby woods and attacked the car.

The impact threw the young deer against the windshield and forced the car to swerve into an embankment on the right. The driver was slightly cut; the deer killed.

Larkin Fails To Show Up And Bail Declared Forfeited

Man Who Brought Two Car Loads Of Horses To Volant Absent When Called

Upon his failure to show up in Federal court at Pittsburgh for trial yesterday the bail of Edward Larkin in the sum of $2500 was declared forfeited.

Larkin became known here when he shipped two carloads of horses to Volant on October 3, last. Later he was arrested for "switching" a horse while enroute with his load to Volant.

It was claimed that when the horses were being brought from South Dakota, some of them were destined for Detroit and some for Volant. When the train stopped at Calumet Park, Chicago, to feed the horses, it was claimed that Larkin had "switched" a poor horse in the Volant car for a good horse in the car destined for Detroit.

It is said he was in Lawrence county last week. Witnesses were all ready for the trial in Pittsburgh when he failed to show up.

Puppets Delight Audience At High School Thursday

Final Performance Of Punchinello Puppets Takes Place This Evening

If all puppets could be as talented as those who compose the cast of "David Copperfield" at the senior high school last night, stage performers would surely become worried about a possible waning popularity with the theater goers.

Punchinello puppets put on a performance last night in the senior high auditorium that was perfect. It was a delightful evening for the several hundred persons in the audience, and if the puppets present such a show in the George Washington junior high school this evening, it is bound to be most enjoyable evening diversion.

Interesting excerpts from the life of that immortal Dickens' character, David Copperfield, were presented on the miniature 6 by 3 stage. The members of the cast were operated from under the stage. The voices of the characters came from under the stage but they sounded as if they came directly from the mouths of the puppets. The movements were made by the arms of the operators, protruding up inside the puppets.

Following the fine presentation of David Copperfield's life, a Punch and Judy show was presented.

Never was Mr. Punch in a more clever part, never was he in such a good humor and never was he in such a bad humor as last night. Judy was very good while she lasted, but she was killed by a stick in the hands of Mr. Punch before very long.

Thursday afternoon the Punchinello puppets performed to an audience largely composed of children. Some 150 children saw the show by the courtesy of the Kiwanis club.

The puppet performances are under the sponsorship of the College club and presented for the purpose of helping the financing of the scholarship fund.

Crime By Public Officials Worst

Should Regard Legal Offense By Public Officials Same As Treason

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—With the declaration that legal offenses of public officials, involving public dishonesty, should be regarded with the same abhorrence as treason and the punishment of such offenses the severest meted out for any offense, Dr. W. T. Root, trustee of Western Penitentiary and head of the psychology department of the University of Pittsburgh in an article published by "The Record," University publication, today recommends strict enforcement of fewer laws and less publicity of criminal trials excepting those that affect the community.

The trials of public officials, merchants or businessmen whose practices affect the public at large are listed in the category of trials to which Dr. Root believes the reduced publicity recommendation should not apply.

In reference to dishonesty by public officials, Dr. Root says:

"Any private crime, even murder, is relatively far less significant in the harm it does to the ideals of the community."

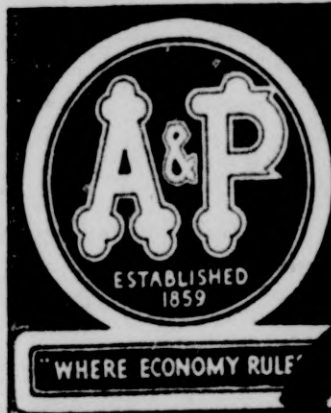

Pomona Grange Opposed To Any Change Of Time

Lawrence County Pomona grange at its session Wednesday in the East Brook United Presbyterian church passed a resolution seeking to prohibit the use of other than eastern standard time in this state.

The resolution adopted asks that the state grange legislative committee adopt a resolution requesting the legislature to enact a law prohibiting the use of any time other than eastern standard time and imposing a penalty on any city, town or community that uses or goes by any other time.

This action is in keeping with previous action of the granges of the county relative to daylight savings time.

Project Contest To Close Soon

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—The department of public instruction announces the sixth annual state vocational project contest will close the week of December 15. Approximately 2500 farm boys in the vocational agricultural courses under the supervision of county supervisors of agriculture, were eligible.

Medals and ribbons will be awarded in the following types of projects. Baby beef, bees, corn, dairy, dairy records, fruit, home improvement, poultry, potatoes, sheep, swine, truck and medal winners' class. Special awards will be made for production of eggs per hen, and the highest yield of potatoes per acre.

The unfavorable growing season has injured plant production projects in many areas of the state while animal projects have done better than usual. This is particularly true of poultry projects. This year these projects will be compared by means of two project score cards, one for plant projects and another for animal projects.

Advent Of Eros May Prove Size Of Solar System

Pigmy Of Solar Universe
Coming Close To Earth
This Winter

By W. F. PETERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 5.—That little matter of determining the extent of the solar system probably will be simplified somewhat by observations astronomers are now making of the asteroid Eros.

Eros, a pigmy in the universe, this winter is closer to the earth than any other body in the planetary system except the moon. On January 29 it will be approximately 16,000,000 miles away, which is enough to cause a stir in astronomical circles.

Observation of Eros may provide a more accurate "yardstick" for the heavens.

Among the country's astronomers watching the approach of the earth's neighbor, is Dr. Oliver J. Lee, director of the Dearborn observatory at Northwestern University.

"We do not yet know the exact dimensions of the solar system," Dr. Lee explained. "It is calculated that the sun is somewhere between 92,880,000 and 92,860,000 miles from the earth. But observations of Eros this winter may enable us to obtain more accurate calculations."

"We can draw a map of the solar system where the proportions of the orbits of the various planets are as nearly correct as one may wish. The only essential thing still lacking is the scale of that map. To ascertain the scale, all that is necessary is to know one distance exactly in miles. The shorter such a standard is, the greater the precision with which it can be measured. Hence the interest in Eros."

In addition to getting the fundamental yardstick of the solar system there is a good chance that observations of the asteroid this winter will give some new information about the mass of the moon, and that a good deal may be learned concerning Eros itself."

Dr. Lee said Eros is one of more than 1,000 smaller bodies, the orbits of which lie between the orbit of Mars and that of Jupiter. It was discovered in 1898 by a German astronomer.

It requires 643 days for Eros to go around the sun, and its distance from the sun ranges from 105,000,000 to 166,000,000 miles.

Once during every turn around the sun Eros passes that point in its course where it is only 14,000,000 miles distant from the earth's orbit. However, only once in about fifty years do both the earth and Eros happen to be in a favorable position at the same time, as will be the case January 29.

Members of the International Union in all parts of the world are participating in the observation of Eros.

Bus Lines Bill Is Not Reported

Parker-Couzens Bill Recommitted
By 51 To 29 Vote—
Bill Appears Dead

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Legislation placing interstate bus lines under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission, today appeared dead for the present session, with the recommitment of the Parker-Couzens bill, 51 to 29.

There seemed little chance that the interstate commerce committee, of which Sen. Couzens (R) of Michigan, co-author of the measure, will again report it out.

Couzens charged that agitation for recommitment was part of a railroad lobby to kill the measure, inspired by failure of the railroads to get the right to acquire competing bus lines.

Star Investigator For Nye Committee Faced By Accusation

Howard M. Rice, Employed By Nye Committee, Sought Contribution

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The star investigator of the senate committee on campaign expenditures today stood accused as the solicitor of a contribution designed to "put over" a candidate.

This revelation was made by Henry R. Curran, director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, while testifying here before the senate probers.

Curran told the committee that Howard M. Rice, who employed by the committee last September, tried to get $5,000 from Curran's association for the campaign of a candidate in the First Congressional District of the State of Washington.

Curran's statement was promptly admitted by Rice, who claimed he was "only a messenger boy trying to do a friend a favor."

Nye defended Rice as "the best investigator the committee ever had."

Another surprise in the hearing was the revelation by John E. Herrick, an Atlantic City lawyer, that 6,384 illegal votes had been cast out of a total of 36,000 in Atlantic City. In the election Morrow got 27,000 votes, Alexander Simpson 9,000.

The committee temporarily has concluded sessions.

Lose Courage After Smashups

(International News Service)
ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 5.—Thirteen smashups in less than 100 feet is the hard luck of F. H. Taylor of Kelso, Wash.

Taylor and his wife were driving between Montesano and Aberdeen when their car was side-swiped by another machine while crossing a small bridge. They stopped and reached a settlement with the other driver, and were starting again when another machine skidded and hit them head-on.

This called for another argument, and the Taylors had driven on less than fifty feet when they were struck from behind by a third car. Mrs. Taylor had had enough.

"Let's get out of here before we get killed," she advised her husband. He did.

Silkworm To Get New Chance In Mexico

Revival Of Silk Industry Seen With Establishment Of Experimental Station

By RICHARD C. WILSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 5.—A revival of the silk producing industry in Mexico through the efforts of an Italian woman is seen probable by government officials.

Rina Alberu Brunati has been induced by the Mexican ministry of agriculture to abandon the experimental station she operated in Italy for the Italian government and come to Mexico to supervise the first experimental station for silk culture in this country.

This is the first encouragement given silk culture by the Mexican government in nearly a century. The experimental station has been established at Saltillo, in the northern state of Coahuila. It is in the sole charge of Miss Brunati.

Miss Brunati already is producing in commercial quantities eggs of the silkworm and white mulberry trees for distribution at low cost to Mexican farmers. Quite a demand for silkworm eggs and mulberry trees has been received from farmers throughout the republic.

The locating of the station at Saltillo was a boon to the manufacture of the rainbow striped zarapes made in that section. This particular style of zarape is necessary for the Mexican "charro" or cowboy to complete his costume. Saltillo is the only place in Mexico where this style of zarape is made. These zarapes are made with a central diamond woven of silk and the production of silk at Saltillo will stimulate the manufacture of these unique zarapes, which are in demand by tourists as well as "charros".

Legislator Wars On Unnecessary Bills

(International News Service)

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 5.—Most legislators go to the biennial session of the state legislature with their pockets crammed with bills, but State Representative Chester K. Watson of Allen and Whitley counties, is a notable exception. He will travel light to the Indiana state-house next January, he said.

Watson is determined to try to defeat unnecessary bills and to remove obsolete laws from the statute books.

Watson said: "My campaign was made on the platform that in recent years there has been a flood of legislation which is good, bad and indifferent, and which has become burdensome, irksome and expensive to the taxpayers. I will try in every way possible to avoid the introduction of unnecessary bills and will sponsor only legislation that is absolutely necessary. I will, however, sponsor the repeal of many of our laws which are now upon the statute books, and which have become obsolete because of age and other reasons."

Eskimo Caddies Are Given Praise

(International News Service)

REGINA, Sask., Dec. 5.—The grand old Scotch game has penetrated the frozen north—explorers take note and include your golf clubs when you pack for the next trip to the north pole.

Rev. Donald Marsh, who has recently returned to Saskatchewan after three years' missionary work in the Arctic Circle reports hazards plentiful and that Eskimo lads make excellent caddies. The missionary started a golf course at Eskimo Point, 250 miles north of Churchill on Hudson Bay. Golf clubs, balls and tees were taken in by steamer and dog team.

Soliciting Clothes This Week For Needy Township School Children

Under the leadership of W. C. McGrew, Union high school's special welfare committee this week launched an effort to obtain used clothing for the needy children of the district. Letters were sent to the parents, asking their cooperation.

A considerable amount of wearables were donated Wednesday, the special day set aside for the reception of the clothing. However, school authorities will appreciate additional contributions.

The school and Parent-Teacher association of the township functioned jointly in collecting the garments.

OPPONENT'S MATCHES LIGHT MAYOR'S CIGAR

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 5.—"The People want Mansfield not the bosses."

Such was the slogan on the back of a strip of paper matches, recently used by Mayor James M. Curley to light a cigar at city hall.

The strip of matches was an echo of the mayoralty fight a year ago between Mayor Curley and Frederick W. Mansfield, president of the Boston Bar Association.

Mayor Curley laughed long and loud and said he didn't know how he came to have the matches in his pocket.

Warn Auto Drivers Of Holiday Throngs

HARRISBURG, Pa. Dec. 5.—Calling attention to the fact that in previous years numerous accidents have occurred on streets crowded with Christmas shoppers, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, state unit of the A. A. A., today warned motorists and pedestrians to take extra precautions in holiday throngs.

"Be especially careful when reading of deaths or injuries as the result of pedestrians being struck by motor cars," said S. Edward Gable, president of the federation. "In some instances the driver of the car is to blame; in others it is the pedestrian. But no matter where the fault, it is a sad event when someone in a gay holiday throng is run down and killed or badly injured."

"In Christmas shopping throngs danger lurks at every intersection and, for that matter, all along the streets, where persons afoot dart across in front of lines of moving cars. In traffic such as this the man or woman at the wheel must be on the alert at all times, ever watchful for the thoughtless pedestrian, as well as for the careless driver."

In this connection the federation head directed a word to the pedestrian. "To the average driver on streets filled with Christmas shoppers it seems that there are far too many pedestrians," he said, "and to the average person afoot it seems that there are far too many motor cars. But from whatever point of view, the problem that arises is how to avert accidents and in solving this the person afoot can do much. If the pedestrian in crossing streets will also watch his step and will see to it that he does not step suddenly off the curb into the path of an approaching car there will be far fewer accidents and fewer sad hearts as the result of Christmas-time motor accidents."

To the driver Mr. Gable had this to say: "No matter how careful you are at all times in the operation of your car, try to be just a little more so in the Christmas shopping traffic. Keep in the back of your head at all times when driving through shopping areas that the person afoot is likely to do the unexpected and be ready for that emergency. At all times keep your car fully under control so that you can bring it to a stop at short notice. Take no chances whatever in driving through streets filled with shoppers."

Overtime Work In Rush Season To Be Permitted

Labor Department Will Sanction Limited Amount For Female Help

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—A limited amount of overtime employment of females is at the disposal of stores and factories to meet the extra demands of the Christmas season, it was announced today by Harry D. Immel, director of the bureau of inspection, department of labor and industry. The statement was issued with the caution that Pennsylvania employers must plan their overtime schedules carefully to guard against exceeding the limitations which are exactly fixed by law.

"The woman's law," says the statement, "provides that adult females normally may be employed not more than ten hours per day, 54 hours per week, or 6 days per week. In factories they may not work before 6 a. m. or after 10 p. m. Girls over 16 years and under 21 may not work anywhere in the state before 6 a. m. or after 9 p. m. except as telephone operators. A 45-minute period must be allowed for the mid-day meal of all women, unless the workday is less than 8 hours, in which event the meal period may be reduced to 30 minutes. Minors of both sexes under 16 years under all circumstances are restricted to employment of 9 hours per day and 51 hours per week, and they may not work before 6 a. m. or after 8 p. m. No minor under 14 years may be legally employed at all.

"The overtime allowance," the statement continues, "is granted during any week in which a legal holiday occurs and is observed by an establishment. The woman's law provides that any female may be employed by such establishment during three days of the holiday week for a maximum of two hours' overtime on each of these three days. Consequently, Christmas falling on Thursday this year, women employed in stores or factories may work two hours overtime on each of the first three days of Christmas week, or a portion of the overtime employed may take place on Friday or Saturday of the preceding week, it having been ruled that any seven days inclusive of a holiday may constitute the week in which overtime is permissible. One thing against which employers must guard is an amount of overtime in any seven days which might carry the total working hours of the employee for those seven days beyond the 54 hours per week which may not be exceeded."

It is recommended that employers who have any doubt about how to bring their overtime schedules within the limits of the law, consult the factory inspector or make inquiry at the office of the supervising inspector in the district in which the establishment is located. As is customary in this season of the year, special checkup will be made by the field force of the bureau of inspection to ascertain that the woman's and child labor laws are being strictly observed.

Salvation Army Plans Baskets For Christmas

Will Endeavor To Help As Many Needy Families As Possible In City

As has been the custom of the Salvation Army for many years there will be a distribution of baskets of foodstuffs among the needy families of the city on Christmas. It is planned, according to Ensign V. Thomsen, to make this distribution as wide as possible and the work done along these lines will only be limited by the amount of money available for this purpose. The kettles on the streets at the present time are for the purpose of securing funds for this purpose and it is hoped that the people will be most generous, due to the very evident increased need this year of help of this kind. Contributions of food as well as money will be most acceptable.

Ensign Thomsen is very busy at the present time in making investigations and planning for the distribution of the Christmas baskets in a manner that will mean the greatest amount of good.

Headquarters of this effort of the Salvation Army is 34 West Washington street, where the ensign will be pleased to meet all those interested in assisting in this effort. In speaking of the custom of providing Christmas dinners for the needy, Ensign V. Thomsen said today that the idea originated with General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, just as the idea of the Unknown Soldier originated in the mind of the son of a Salvation Army Officer.

General Booth felt the divine urge to do something for the poor of London and their children and he gave up his own Christmas and with members of the army spent Christmas Day in distributing food to the poor. It eventually became a recognized effort of the Salvation Army throughout the world. It has been carried out in America for more than fifty years. Miss Evangeline Booth, commander-in-chief in America, the youngest daughter of the founder, celebrates her natal day every Christmas and supervises the distribution of baskets of food among the poor of New York City and toys to children of the same families.

Quinine, one of our most valuable medicines, is derived from the bark of the chinchona tree, a native of Peru, which was not grown in England till 1858, although its virtues had been known for over 200 years.

Design Of Homes Undergoing Change

Economic Factors Are Having Pronounced Effect On Living

(International News Service)
PULLMAN, Wash., Dec. 5.—Economic factors in and outside the home are having a pronounced effect upon floor plans of the modern domicile, according to Stanley A. Smith, head of the State College department of architectural engineering.

The modern housewife with her wide range of activities in the largest factor in the new order of building, he declared.

"The rising tide of married women who prefer teaching, computing figures or composing letters to preparing meals or polishing silver is unquestionably increasing," Smith said. "This, coupled with the fact that servants are hard to get, may have a direct bearing on the fabric of the home, which in turn is reflected in the floor plans of new houses."

"If guests are to be invited to dinner at a hotel or driven to a golf club or to a downtown restaurant, why build a large dining room? This is the question which has confronted hundreds of home builders, and which have led to the gradual disappearance of room used for no other purpose than for formal dinners."

"The modern hostess has come to the conclusion that a large dining room is excessive, and that massive sideboards with other matching pieces of furniture are merely white elephants. The newer homes as a consequence feature an extra large living room and a miniature affair termed the dinette. Ideas in entertaining are turning from the formal meal to the delightful buffet supper or small dinner tables."

Disease Spreaders Are On Increase

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—A report submitted today to the Secretary of Health, Dr. Theodore B. Appel, by Dr. Edgar S. Everhart, chief of the venereal disease section of the State Health Department, indicates that there is an increasing number of disease spreaders among the young people in both the rural and urban sections of the Commonwealth.

"Undoubtedly lax parental control and the excessively free intermingling of irresponsible youth, coupled with the opportunities afforded by the automobile, roadhouses and the use of bootleg liquor have been directly responsible for the present serious condition," said Doctor Everhart.

Haywire Woodpeckers Peck Selves To Death

Some Curious Pranks Played
By Birds In California

(International News Service)
SANTA ROSA, Calif., Dec. 5.—Sonoma county Flickers (woodpeckers) have gone haywire!

One drilled a hole in a water tank on the Charles Haub ranch, draining the water supply. Another one of the species Colaptes Auratus was down his beak attempting to drill a hole in a tin roof at the Steve Daily ranch.

Another woodpecker celebrated Armistice Day in a watery way by "committing suicide" by a tedious route, it was reported by George Irwin, who removed the bird's body from a water tank.

Like the "Haub bird" the suicide woodpecker had drilled a hole through a water tank. But he had missed the water line by a few inches.

Then he crawled through the hole, probably to see what was holding up the expected deluge, fell in and was drowned.

Had he wished to die, Irwin said, the bird could have saved himself the labor of drilling through the heavy tank. There was no roof over the tank.

The Santa Rosa cases paralleled the spectacular deaths of twelve woodpeckers that formed an arrowhead formation Halloween eve and attacked a transformer at San Mateo, Cal. The joke was on them. The transformer happened to be buzzing with several thousand volts of electricity. Net result: Twelve electrocuted woodpeckers.

Despondent Farmer Shoots Self In Heart

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Dec. 5.—Despondent since the death of a daughter two years ago and in ill health, Joe McElhaney, 50, well-known farmer of near Links Bridge, Independence township, went to his barn Thursday morning and shot himself through the heart with a revolver.

Very likely Samson's strength was in his hair. Every genius we have ever seen needed a hair cut.

Disagree Over Award To Lewis

Professors Present Conflicting Opinions On Nobel Prize

(International News Service)
CHICAGO Dec. 5.—There are conflicting opinions in the English department of the University of Chicago on the recent awarding of the Nobel prize for literature to Sinclair Lewis, American author, for his novel, "Babbalanja."

Prof. Fred B. Millet severely criticized the awarding of the prize to Lewis, saying:

"It is only another illustration of the impossibility of one nation judging accurately the literary productions of another. Lewis has his value for America as a critic of provincial narrowness and materialism but even in America critics have from the beginning of his career known his aesthetic limitations, lack of style and obvious basic ideas."

Prof. John Mathews Manley, head of the English department, countered by characterizing the work of Sinclair Lewis as "a genuine and substantial study of many phases of American life."

Prof. Frank H. O'Hara, director of dramatics at the university, praised the quality of Lewis' characters.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Colonel Jim Leaf was in town Thursday, which may not mean so much to you if you don't know the colonel. But if you do, you know he's an interesting chap, full of information upon any subject that touches upon engineering.

The colonel is one of those engineers you read about, a man who knows his subject thoroughly and through years of experience at it has become more or less of a tradition in the profession.

His engineering experience has run to waterway development and if you think he doesn't know things about the Pymatuning Dam and the proposed canalization of the Beaver and Mahoning Rivers, talk to him awhile.

He is an enthusiast for both projects and is of the opinion that one will aid the other. "The Pymatuning Dam should come first," said he, "for we need the water it will bring us over and above the present supply."

"The Pymatuning Dam will be a sort of savings bank for water for this district. The early spring floods the heavy summer rains, all of them will be impounded in an area of 145 square miles. The wall of the dam will be thirty feet high and there never will be a time when the flood waters will reach to the top of that. The height of the Shenango will be kept even all the time, higher than it is now, and along in the months when the water is ordinarily low, the water from the dam can be turned in and thus insure plenty of water for the industries and the water plants."

Colonel Leaf knows the Pymatuning swamp district from actual experience. In 1905, as a young engineer, he ran a line through it, seven miles long, and as straight as an arrow. Only the fact that the swamp was frozen permitted him to get through.

Only wish Bill Sandman could have been in to have heard the colonel talk on the glacier which one day came down through this country. After listening to the colonel describe its action, you could almost see the big ice field moving across, although as you know the speed of one of them is about five feet per year, and the one we had happened along about 10,000 years ago.

Some of the old time football stars seems to have the idea that this column is casting the lineup of the alumni for the game tomorrow afternoon between the New Castle High School and the alumni. They want to play and after that suggested lineup appeared applications have been pouring in.

Ted Marlin and Jim Rugh feel offended that they were not named and Wilbur J. Baer insists that he's good for a couple of quarters. Charley Allen has been going around for days muttering in his beard about favoritism it not being on the team. The answer is that these fellows were being kept under cover as shock troops. If they played the shock would be too much for them.

Autoist Is Killed When Car Collides

STUBENVILLE, O., Dec. 5.—Samuel Shipley, 35, railroader, Rochester, N. Y., was killed and his brother, John Shipley, 32, millworker, Steubenville, probably fatally hurt here last night when their auto and an eastbound Greyhound bus met head-on.

The younger Shipley apparently lost control of his machine, Coroner A. L. Bell said. Leo Cole, driver, and bus passengers were unhurt and were transferred to another bus to continue the trip to Pittsburgh. The injured man is in the Ohio Valley Hospital, with a fractured skull.

possible enterprise groups which will explore the possibility of a topic, discover resource help from pamphlets and the Bible, and aid in the development of plans for older boys' group work to be carried on at the home base.

These groups will have three ses-

Indians Face Loss Of Liquor Supply

(International News Service)

RIVERTON, Wyo., Dec. 5.—Arapaho and Shoshone Indians living in western Wyoming are soon to be cut off from their supply of alcoholic liquor, if the current campaign of federal enforcement officers is carried through. Two men have already been arrested here in connection with raids by federal officers, and more arrests are predicted for the near future.

Considerable drunkenness among the Indians on the Wind River reservation during the past few months brought the situation to the attention of federal authorities.
Several stills have been seized by local and federal officers.

Charles Berry is being held in jail at Lander, and R. D. Richards, local druggist is at liberty under a $500 bond, both in connection with the sale of liquor to Indians. Both men will appear before federal court.

Vitamins Obtainable In Concentrated Form, States Dr. Clendening

Diet Elements Essential To Health Are Present Principally In Ordinary Fresh Foods, As Illustrated Here

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Vitamins are so essential to health that they are now being exploited in concentrated, or canned form.
The very essence of their value is that they are present in fresh foods.
Because this is not apparently generally understood let me give a table of the ordinary foods which contain the essential vitamins.

A table? A round table? No, a square table and a square meal.

At this square table and square meal, begin at the upper left hand corner. There are vitamins A and
D. What foods contain A and D?
Fats and oils. Common ones, easily obtained are: Butter, yolk of egg, cream, fish—fat most concentrated.

As is now well known, it is obtained in cod-liver oil.

Going over to the upper right hand corner of the table, we ask for vitamin B.

You get it in flour, bread, whole-wheat bread, yeast, rice, bran and milk.

Lower left hand corner, is the essential vitamin C.
Present in vegetables and fruits.
More when the articles are served raw—orange, lemons, lettuce, tomatoes, celery, potatoes.

In the lower right hand corner, newcomers—vitamins PP or B2 (we are not sure of their names yet).

Present in lean meat, fish, cheese, eggs, yeast and white bread.

Put graphically the table looks like this:

EDITOR'S NOTE: Four pamphlets by Doctor Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are "Infant Feeding," "Reducing and Gaining," "Instructions on the Treatment of Diabetes" and "Hygiene of Women".

V. Krienko today as the trial of eight college professors and economists on charges of engineering an international conspiracy against the Soviet regime near its close.

In the "interests of national security," Prosecutor Krienko demanded "death for all and clemency for none."

PLAINGROVE

SCHOOL RESUMES

There has been a merry reunion of the pupils of Plaingrove school after the jolly Thanksgiving festivities. As yet we have not heard of any ill effects from over-eating.

EXAMS

The six weeks examinations, so detested by both teachers and pupils have once again become history.
They occurred on Monday, Decem-

BASKETBALL

Many groans were heard from the girls when Miss Battley ordered them to run around the gym, ten times on Monday. The cause was sweets eaten during the Thanksgiving vacation.

We presume Mr. Rainey had the same trouble with the boys.
Our fair school was the scene of three triumphant victories on Tuesday evening when both the High School teams and the Alumni came through "on top."

The varsity teams played the Lions club boys and girls of Grove City and the Alumni played Jack-sville.

The scores were as follows:
Alumni 26, Jacksville 14.
P. G. Girls 30, Lions Girls 5.
P. G. Boys 16, Lions Boys 7.

The girls appeared on the floor for the first time in their new uniforms. Though they were embarrassed, spectators said they made a very nice appearance on the floor.

We hope to make as good a showing when we motor to East Brook
Friday night.

"Mother O' Mine" Attracts Crowd

The playlet "Mother O' Mine" presented in the Croton Avenue Methodist church Thursday evening attracted a crowd that filled the church auditorium.

The play is a comedy sketch and many humorous situations occur which kept the audience in the upper of laughter at all times.

church, coached the production and to her is due the credit for the suc-

Tourists Storm Clemenceau Home

(International News Service)

VINCENT-SUR-JARD, Vendee, Dec. 5.—Many of the old relics and familiar objects used by the late "Tiger" are showing signs of wear owing to the many tourists and curiosity-seekers who are visiting the old country home of Clemenceau near this place. The wild retreat of the French statesman has been turned into a small museum and has become the object of pilgrimage for a large number of visitors this summer. Everything is very simple but the chairs and writing-table where Clemenceau worked are fascinating to all who admired him.
The old bench where he so often sat on fine days has had to be roped off in order that so many people would not use it.

Perhaps one reason why juries won't convict is because it doesn't pay to kick a fellow who may have you in the same fix tomorrow.

Borough Council Holds Up Traffic Ordinance For Further Scrutiny

City Solicitor Humphrey Will Examine Complicated Traffic Ordinance

Council To Consult Property Owners Concerning Removal Of Grass Plot

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 5.—At the regular monthly meeting of the borough council which took place last night in the city building, the passing of the traffic ordinance was delayed, owing to the fact that the city solicitor, J. W. Humphrey, had not perused the ordinance. It will be turned over to him for examination and additions before being passed on third reading at the next meeting of council.

Council will discuss with the property owners on that portion of Second street, between Fountain and Spring avenues regarding the grass plot in the center of the street. Sentiment is that when Second street is paved to Crescent avenue and traffic directed over the new overhead bridge, that the plot will be very much in the way. However, final action regarding constructing an ordinance to remove the plot, will rest with the property owners.

Ordinance up for third reading stated that two percent of the premium on foreign fire insurance, when received by the borough, shall be paid to the relief fund of the fire department. This was passed on third and final reading.

Up for second reading, a measure regarding the shade trees of the city should not have branches extending over cartways or sidewalks less than eight feet high. Failure to trim the trees on the part of the property owners after due notification by the borough, shall necessitate trimming the trees by the borough and assessing cost on owner. This ordinance was tabled until more amendments can be made to attach thereto. Gail Morrison, a new member of council, made an eloquent plea for the young trees, stating that some were not grown high enough to trim, and would spoil the tree.

Committee Reports. Fire and water committee reported the fire report for the month of November as follows: Number 1 fire at 411 Franklin avenue, no damage; fire at Fifth and Spring, no damage; at Sixth and Beaver, $35 damage; Brown's Addition, $1500 damage; Fifth and Spring, no damage; and Wurtemburg road, no damage. Firemen's services $125.

The fire and water committee also reported that the tires on the White truck are in bad condition and should be replaced. Granted.

The police committee reported the following, submitted by Chief Morrison and Burgess Turner: Number of arrests, 6; number of discharges, none; fines, none; forfeits, 5. Total costs, fines and forfeits, including dance permit receipts, $64.

The police committee asked permission to lease a plot of ground on the rear of Chestnut way for the erection of a place to store the police cars; also they asked the approval of council in purchasing a 1931 Chevrolet touring car for the police department at the price of $405. This was approved.

Members of council accepted the invitation of the Elks lodge to attend their annual memorial services Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Liberty theater.

It was moved and seconded that no representatives of the borough council should be sent to the annual road show in St. Louis this year, the show convening in January.

The health officer submitted his usual report, with one case of pneumonia, two of bronchial pneumonia and two of scarlet fever during the past month. The council voted to authorize the health committee to make out a more detailed form which will be printed and given the health officer to fill out when he makes his monthly inspections.

Trial Light Fixed For Christmas Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 5.—At a recent meeting of the Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce it was decided to dispense with the customary small fir trees as decorations for Christmas and use decorations on the white way lights instead.

A trial trim was put on the light at the corner of Lawrence avenue and Sixth street yesterday and looks very effective. When completed all the lights will be decorated with fluffy tamarack boughs, and have silver icicles hanging down. This decoration promises to lend a pretty holiday air to the main street for the Christmas season here.

Compromise Keeps Miners At Work

Spectre Of National Tie-Up In British Coal Fields, Shunted

(International News Service)

LONDON, Dec. 5.—A last-minute compromise between owners of mines and mine workers today kept Britain's coal pits in operation, shunting to the background the spectre of a national tie-up at the beginning of winter.

Although the situation continued to remain in a critical stage, hope was held out for a permanent settlement. Peace was maintained by the narrow margin of 230,000 to 209,000.

A compromise was reached by a miners' conference in London which allowed the so-called spread-over system of working hours to continue temporarily, while the disputed question is submitted to all local miners' organizations for further consideration.

Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald and other members of the cabinet sat with the miners' delegates in the hope of bringing about an agreement.

Want Woods Made Safe For Hunters

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 5.—Determined to rid the woods of the killers who, each deer season mistake other hunters for game, 150 sportsmen yesterday demanded enactment of a law revoking their hunter licenses for at least ten years.

The proposed law also would suspend the licenses of deer law violators for five years and the licenses of small game law violators for one year.

The measure was called by sportsmen organizations to consider conservation measures for submission to the Legislature. The conservation department's game refuge policy was upheld by a vote of 80 to 61, and the conference went on record as opposed to the private game preserve law.

The conference voted in favor of amending the deer law so that six-inch spike-horned bucks cannot be killed. The minimum, under the proposal, would be bucks with eight-inch forked horns.

They asked that the $1 license fee for trout fishing be extended to include all fishing.

Farm Leaders From Forty States Will Gather In Boston

Twelfth Annual National Convention Of Farm Federation Opens Monday

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Dec. 5.—Farm leaders from forty states, were in Boston today for the twelfth annual national convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation, scheduled to open on Monday.

The resolutions committee snapped into action almost immediately with a measure, which, if adopted would ask congress to create a $200,000 revolving fund in the treasury from which federal land bank bonds can be purchased by the treasury from time to time as the interest rate in the open market becomes too high, with the idea of stabilizing the federal land bank market so that low rates of interest would be available.

Other subjects which will come up for consideration before the organization of which Sam H. Thompson, of Quincy, Illinois, is head, are: agricultural marketing, the future of the federal farm board, rural credits, agricultural taxation, regulation of motor trucks and buses, development of an adequate merchant marine, drought relief, appropriations for operations of the department of agriculture and the expansion of the federal government's road building program.

Federal Farm Board Reports To Congress

Farm Board Just "Feeling Its Way Along"—First Year Operation Reported

Immensity Of Problems Fails To Discourage Board—Remedies Suggested

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The federal farm board with its $150,000,000 appropriation is still "feeling its way along" in its grain buying operations, it indicated today as it reported its first year of operation to congress. The present economic crisis, it was pointed out, while it created certain unusual opportunities, also multiplied the difficulties in developing policies and building an organization.

"The experience of the first year has brought clearly into view the immensity of the problems with which the board must undertake to deal and the complexity of their ramifications, but at the same time it has led to the very definite conclusion that farmer organization, of all the remedies suggested, offers the surest hope for permanent financial betterment of those engaged in agriculture," the report said.

Avoid Rashness.
"Throughout the board has had to choose between action and delay. It has sought to avoid rashness, and has resisted great pressure, refusing to use measures which it was convinced were unwise or unwarranted."

The report stressed the fact that improvement in farm income can not be obtained from effective cooperative marketing alone, but requires in addition that production be brought in line with consumer demands.

There are two ways of dealing with agricultural surpluses—prevent them and control them, the board declared.

The report showed that up to June 30 last the total commitments approved by the board amounted to $270,146,554.93 deducting the commitments cancelled the net commitments amounted to $242,659,476.13, on which $191,811,521.57 was advanced. Repayments amounted to $43,195,327.52, leaving $148,616,194.05 outstanding.

Excessive Production.

The board said measures for prevention of surpluses through control of excessive production, are absolutely essential to stabilizing farm prices and farm incomes.

"Cooperative associations and stabilization corporations, supplemented by other devices, may prove able to deal with temporary or occasional surpluses," it was declared, "but none of these, nor all together, nor any government agency can protect farmers from the consequences of repeated or continuous production in excess of market requirements. Adjustments of production to market requirements are indispensable in agriculture as well as in industry, to the solution of surplus problems."

Problems are Vast.

The problems of control and prevention of agricultural surpluses are vast and complex, it was averred. The board pointed out it had approached the task with courage, "but not in a mood of lightly experimenting with large public funds and powerful economic forces."

From its experience in endeavoring to stabilize wheat prices, the board has drawn the following conclusion:—

1. In a major stabilization operation with a commodity such as wheat, it is inevitable that a large quantity must be taken in order to exert any material effect on the market. Furthermore, the accumulation of a substantial volume, most of which necessarily must be in the visible supply, has a somewhat depressing effect upon prices. Announcement that such accumulations will not be sold is not sufficient to reassure buyers and the quantity thus held renders difficult the purchase of supplies adequate to the demand.

2. Purchases in the cash market alone are inadequate to sustain prices and do great injury to legitimate operations in the option market by throwing cash prices out of line with the future.

3. Transactions in the futures market having been entered upon, there is no good place to stop, even within the limits of a single crop-marketing period.

4. The storage problem is a serious one in any stabilization activity. The grain must be in a position where warehouse receipts can be issued against it as a means of insuring safe delivery of the commodity. Facilities for doing this are limited.

"There is a field for stabilization measures—just how large a field the board is not in a position to determine—but the experience described indicates the difficulties and hazards are involved in stabilization procedures," the report added.

Grand Jury Ends Indictment Work

Reports County Home In Good Shape And Recommends Minor Improvements

In presentments to court yesterday afternoon the grand jury reported that 54 indictments had been considered, of which 47 were found true bills and 7 not true bills. The final bill was against Nick Padol for manufacturing liquor, the jury returning a true bill.

A visit was made to the county home which is reported in good condition. A recommendation was made that more room be needed for filing purposes in the prothonotary's office and it was suggested that steel filing cases be purchased and placed in the back room.

The jury reported other offices about the court house in fairly good condition and recommended the installation of an additional toilet room for men in connection with court room No. 2.

Wages Discussed By Pottery Men

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—Officials of the United States Potters Association and the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters today entered their fourth day's session in an attempt to agree on a wage-scale for the 7,500 workers in the pottery industry.

Potters affected by the wage conferences are operating at the present under an extended contract which expires January 1. The original contract expired last September 1 and was extended for the remainder of the year or until a new wage agreement should be reached.

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press

NEW YORK Dec. 5.—The columnist racket is attracting too many outsiders. First, Cal Coolidge horns in, then Al Smith barges his way to a front row seat and now we have Roger Wolff Kahn, orchestra leader, song writer, saxophone expert and son of Otto H.

Bill Hanna, New York's leading newspaper baseball and football writer, lit out for the Evergreen Shore the other day, leaving a hole in the heart of everyone in The Gang.

Bill was the one sports writer who never resorted to slang for his effectiveness. He pushed a classical style; but so capable a craftsman was he that Constant Reader, gliding across Hanna's gilt-edged phrases, never realized that temporarily he was going High Brow.

During his career on the Sun, Bill tired of sports writing, and went to Harvard for a year. There of all subjects offered, he selected archaeology and philology. After that he went on a tour of the world and finally tramped back to his old job, having reached the conclusion that many another wise man has reached before him, that there is no endeavor on earth that carries the unique compensation of a newspaper job.

UP IN ARMS

Speaking of rackets: The Big Lobby and Lounge men in Tammany Town are up in arms against what they call the "public porter nuisance," which at a conservative estimate is costing leading inns of the city a couple of million bucks a year. Porters and a little coterie of taxi drivers, co-operating around terminals and piers, steer visitors who ordinarily would patronize the larger caravansaries, to inconsequential side-wheel hostilities, on The Side of Things.

A NEW ERA

In his recent book, "The Psychology of Clothes," Prof. J. C. Flugel predicts that at some future day everybody's going to go round naked and that women will be ring-leaders in the innovation.

Between the "trade recession" and Earl Carroll, darned if we don't think the Doc's off on the right foot.

Brother Flugel says: "Clothes are an episode in the history of humanity, which women are beginning to distrust."

I've often heard—but never, of course, really believed—that women are naturally suspicious. This is absolutely the first time I've heard it said that they carry their suspicion to the point where they distrust their clothes.

Other women's clothes, maybe; but not their own.

Still picking on Prof. Flugel:

The Doc tells of a test he conducted one time at a co-ed hotbed of learning. He found that to the suggested word "Squeeze" a majority of the made students immediately thought of Lemons, while nine-tenths of the girls thought of love.

I didn't get far enough along in the book to learn what the Doc deduces from that.

BACK-HANDED COMPLIMENT

Dr. Hank Van Dyke, of Princeton University, says that in passing the Nobel literature award to "Red" Lewis, of Sauk Center, Minn. "they handed Lewis a bouquet but gave America a very back-handed compliment."

Sailing, the other day, to collect the prize money "Red" couldn't think of any wisecracks in reply, although he nudged his brain.

If he'd thought of it, he might have paraphrased Bernard Shaw, who stepped before the curtain at the premiere of one of his plays to make a speech, when some gallery-god gave him the Bronx cheer.

"I quite agree with you," said Shaw, glancing smilingly in his direction "but what does your opinion and mine amount to in the face of such opposition?"

Soldiers Home For Vets Of World War

(International News Service)

NOROTON, Conn., Dec. 5.—Because Federal officers find that world war veterans are entering institutions at a much earlier age than did the man who fought through the Civil War, the State Commission in charge of Fitch's Soldier's Home here is planning to extend the present plan so that it can care for 1400 men, or two per cent of the total forces that Connecticut sent to the world war. Only forty civil war veterans remain in the home here, while there are about 400 world war veterans now being cared for.

County Federation Of Women's Clubs

Down through the aisles of time the little child has walked in the wake of his elders, overshadowed by their importance and authority. His value has been unheralded as he came, in his steady march through the centuries, except by maxims that suggested—"As the twig is bent so the tree is inclined." "Spare the rod and spoil the child."

To his parents he was important but for all others he must be unheard and out of sight. Then, quite suddenly in recent years, there came an awakening to the value of child training. "As the twig is bent" became more than a maxim, it became a system of training to be developed. "Spare the rod," has been buried in the long ago for the child has become an individual to be reasoned with and not coerced by fear or force.

Today the nation's thought is focused upon the child. Because this thought is springing from many different sources, from many shades of minds, there is a complexity of ideas being offered as to child training and a wide diversity of plans projected for the control of this training process.

Schools have been built, razed, and rebuilt to include every modern device for physical and mental stimulus and culture. Their curriculums have been revised, added to, and stuffed full of bulging with thought provoking maneuvers. Intricate plans are developed that fill not only the school hours but the remaining hours of the child's day.

The time has advanced for this specialized training to begin, until now the child of tender years is in kindergarten. The latest advice from certain sources advocate the placing of the child of two under public instruction. Still farther advanced are the claims, now receiving considerable attention, that the child belongs to the state and should have scientific training in public institutions from birth.

Movements abound for group training in character building and social development. Theories are advanced that connect the home training with that of the public school. Other theories are built upon the supposition of the decadence of the home since economic forces have taken from the home many of the functions that were a help to the parents in the vocational training of their child. The theory thus advanced ignores the emotional relation of the parent to the child as a training influence; ignores the need of a child to belong and to be loved, and so would take the child from the home environment to that of a state controlled institution.

Today's conditions of production have caused such rapid changes in our modes of living that confusion has been brought to the home life where readjustment to these conditions has been slow since it compelled the breaking away from family patterns handed down from generation to generation.

Added to this disturbance from economic forces is a further disturbance from the presentation of so many views that confuse; from the lack of practical, adequate plans to meet the situation as yet. Thus the mothers of our nation, our home makers, are standing bewildered.

This bewildered state of our mothers through which they are losing their grip on the controlling reins of the home, is a source of danger to our nation for the home has fulfilled a deep seated need of civilization.

The danger from bewildered and hence neglectful mothers is recognized as such by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and that recognition is back of that earnest from headquarters that every woman's club give considerable space on its program for a careful study of the home and its need of readjustment to the times in order to preserve or build a healthy home environment for every child.

It is a time for clear thinking by the mothers, the home makers of our nation. It is a time for the parental hand made firm by an intelligent understanding of the danger to take its place in the task of sorting these means for child training, holding fast and building more secure that influence of the home that will insure a background of understanding love and culture and family pride that will give him inspiration and courage for his tasks from the early days of school to the larger tasks of mature years.

The First Martyr

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

They chose Stephen, a man full of faith and of the Holy Ghost. —Acts 6:5.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

The growth of the infant Christian church soon brought with it the "growing pains" of peculiar problems and difficulties.

"Now in these days when the number of the disciples was multiplying there arose a murmuring of the Grecians against the Hebrews, because their widows were neglected in the daily ministrations and the twelve called the multitude of the disciples unto them and said, It is not fit that we forsake the word of God and serve tables. Look ye out therefore brethren, from among you seven men of good report, full of the Spirit and of wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business. But we will continue steadfastly in prayer, and in the ministry of the word." This early church knew where to place the emphasis. The ministry of the word was its chief function. Social service was not to be neglected, but neither was it to supplant preaching of the Word. So there came about a happy division of work and lay activity sprang up in the choice of the seven deacons. And let it be noted how fair their choice was to the Grecians in the predominance of Greek names among those chosen.

A Deacon Who "Deaked"

Stephen was one of these seven original deacons who is a fine ideal of the church's lay workers of all ages. The job for which he was chosen seemed to deal with temporal affairs rather than spiritual and yet he so spiritualized it with its scriptural testimony that for the time he towers even above the apostles as a witness for Christ. "And Stephen, full of grace and power, wrought great wonders and signs among the people. And they were not able to withstand the wisdom and the Spirit by which he spake." Not neglecting the temporal duties of a deacon in the "serving of tables" he yet rendered a spiritual ministry of testimony, teaching and prayer. Financial budgets, property matters, etc., call for much of the time of modern deacons, but Stephen points them to their spiritual duties also, and may be imagined as saying, "these ought ye to have done and not to leave the other undone."

A Disciple As His Master
The opposition aroused against Stephen and his conduct under it reflect the teaching and example of the Lord Jesus. Here was a disciple who was as his Master. Under false accusation of hired perjurers they still "saw his face as it had been the face of an angel." He pointed out in their scriptures God's preparation for "the coming of the Righteous, One of whom they had now become betrayers and murderers. He sealed his testimony with his blood and became the first Christian martyr, his dying words being the echo of the last words heard from the cross, "Lord lay not this sin to their charge."

(The International Uniform Lesson for Dec. 7 is Acts 6:1-7:60, the subject being "Stephen: An Early Interpreter of Christianity" and the Golden Text Acts 6:5, "They chose Stephen, a man full of faith and of the Holy Spirit.") w?sk-

NO, WE HAVEN'T

A Jew and an Englishman were having an argument about the ways of their respective races.

"You people," said the Jew, "have been taking things from us all your lives. The Ten Commandments, for instance."

"Well, yes," said the other, "we took them from you all right, but you can't say we've kept them." —Tit-Bits.

Civilized nation. One that cheerfully spends billions to kill men but can't think up a way to care for the jobless.

Sophomore's Frock

The sophomore's dance is one of the big moments in the undergraduate's life, says Lucien Lelong, famous couturier. She has not yet attained the Olympian sphere of the senior, but has won sophistication since her freshman year, which her frock should express. A Lelong white satin evening gown suitable for this charming young person is sketched. It is trimmed with light green velvet ribbon.

P. R. R. Telephone Engineer To Open New Service Here

Inaugurate New Dial Exchange At Division Offices Saturday Afternoon

With the installation of the Pennsylvania railroad's new manual private telephone exchange here completed, P. E. Walker, regional telegraph and telephone engineer for the company at Pittsburgh, will come here Saturday to formally inaugurate the service.

New equipment necessary for the operation of the new type communication has been set up at divisional headquarters here by General Electric experts, working with Pennsylvania men.

By means of approximately 120 special dial lines out of Pittsburgh the new dial equipment in the regional offices there will be connected to other dial exchanges installed for the company at Blairsville, Conemaugh, Cresson, the Conway yards, in addition to numerous other points.

Connect with Conway It will be the special dial equipment at the Conway yards with which the manual exchange here will be connected, but local officers via Conway exchange will be able to call Pittsburgh and the other points included.

Special equipment to insure high-grade transmission to more distant points is to be installed on the Pittsburgh switchboard. The apparatus, telephone engineers explain, amplifies voice sounds so that they are distinctly audible at the distant end of the wire. These devices are known as telephone repeaters.

While the manual exchange here will be inaugurated tomorrow, it may be some time yet before all of the Pittsburgh work is completed. The exchange opening here will make possible communication to the Conway yards and other points where the changes have already been made.

Only the exchange board itself was affected by the installation, the telephones in the building's offices still being of the type in use over the city.

Shoe Toe Explodes; Man Is Injured

East Brook Road Man Is Hurt In Peculiar Manner

Cause of injury—exploding shoe. Sounds foolish but it's true, so true that J. C. Hope of East Brook road is now recovering from a severely burned right foot and may lose his large toe as the result of his shoe exploding.

With some other men Mr. Hope was engaged in butchering for the winter and nearby was a bon fire. Suddenly he felt the inside of his right shoe explode and an instant later was in intense agony as the result of the flames.

A doctor was called and ministered to the injury. It is his belief that sheet celluloid was used in building the toe box of the shoe and that this exploded through the heat of the nearby fire.

Now some ingenious lad will come out with a non-explosive shoe no doubt.

It's Wise Child For Whom Toys Are Made Nowadays

Woolly Playthings Of Yester-Years Passed; 1930 Dolls Must Have Snap And Rouge

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Children's urge to do just what mama and daddy do is revolutionizing the toy industry.

Toy manufacturers of the United States who came together for a two day conference here estimate that a third of the toys manufactured in this country are of the vehicle type based on children's love of playthings which move. A large proportion of the vehicle toys are miniature reproductions of modern machinery of transportation devices.

Concrete mixers, street sprinklers, steam shovels, ice boxes and electric stoves, which actually cook are put forth in tiny models for youngsters who prefer copies of the prosaic things of modern life to woolly leftovers from the playthings of other generations. Dolls constitute only one-sixth of the toy maker's product. Moreover little mothers like their babies of the modern type. Bisque blonds with that doll-baby stare have been driven off the toy counter, says the manufacturers, by snappy models with well rouged cheeks and lips and hair of dramatic shade—preferably black, though red is also popular.

Citizenship Talk Features P. T. A. Meeting Thursday

December Meeting Of Highland P. T. A. Assembles In School Thursday Night

"Education is the foundation of good citizenship" said Fred L. Rentz Thursday evening as he addressed the Highland Parents-Teachers Association at their December meeting.

Mrs. Robert Magill, president of the organization opened the meeting and the first number on the program was a playlet, "The Return" given by pupils of 5 A grade, under the direction of Miss Pearl Hutchison. This depicted a scene from the pilgrims' first Thanksgiving and the parts were splendidly taken by the students.

An exercise pertaining to citizenship was given by a group of pupils from the Sixth grade.

Miss Alma Locke, chairman of the program committee then introduced the speaker of the evening, Fred L. Rentz, who spoke on "Citizenship."

Mr. Rentz opened his address by giving a definition of a citizen and of citizenship then proceeded to explain what qualities made for good citizenship. He further stated that good citizenship began in the home with the early training of the child and then, when they became of an age to attend the public schools the teacher had a great deal to do with pointing out the ways in which he could be of the most benefit to his community. He lauded the teachers for the magnificent part they play in training the future citizens of the community, state and country.

Prof. R. G. Leslie, principal of Highland School announced that there had been a school committee formed to work in conjunction with the mayor's relief committee to take care of the needy scholars in the schools and he asked that any clothing families had to donate, be brought to the school and it would be given to those in need, after being repaired by the girls of the Home economics class in High School.

Announcement was also made that the Highland association would bring Dr. Angelo Patri, a noted international educator of New York City, to this city some time in January. He will address the general public in the High School auditorium on questions of the day pertaining to educational matters.

The men got the fire out when it had burned the roof and nearly all the upper story off.

Autoists Ascend Mt. Washington

BRETON WOODS, N. H., Dec. 5.—Automobile drivers now will be able to ascend Mt. Washington, the highest point in New England, over a good road as result of the opening of a new highway. Previously, the Mt. Washington Cog Railway was the only way to reach the top and view the scenery for miles around.

Launch Drive To Banish Injuries

Pennsy Rail Forces Here Aim For Clean Slate Record In December

With only 26 more days to go until the close of 1930, employees of the Erie & Ashtabula division, Pennsylvania lines, are making every effort possible to complete the closing of the month of the year without a single accident.

November's record, showing but one reportable case and two loss-time injuries was said by Safety Agent L. C. Gleason to have been a credit to the division. Extra effort is being made to keep the December slate clean.

A "reportable" case is one where disability keeps the injured off duty more than three days. Records of such are filed with the interstate commerce commission and so are termed "reportable".

The two loss-time cases last month only kept the workers off duty one day.

It is believed the division's record for the year will measure up favorably with previous ones.

"Pow Wow" Doctor Banished By Judge

York County Jurist Promises Severe Fine If Prisoner Returns

(International News Service) YORK, Pa., Dec. 4.—Reputedly the most widely known "pow wow" doctor of York county, Charles W. Rice has been banished from the county for life by Judge R. P. Sherwood.

Rice was brought before Judge Sherwood on a charge of practicing "hex" lore. The jurist fined him $1 and costs and told him that if he is ever seen in York county again a $500 fine and a jail sentence of one year will be imposed. Rice announced he would leave the state and move to Maryland with his wife and five children. Judge Sherwood asked that the name of the Maryland town be not published, fearing Rice would be unable to make a living there if his reputation preceded him.

Peter's Adventures

ALL QUIET ON THE FRONT

"Oh, Dear me, how dreadful!" Busy flicked a tear from her eye. "To think we must leave our happy home to our enemies. I wish I had lost my sight before I lived to see my hill destroyed, my sisters taken captives. Every one of my relatives is out on the battlefield! I'm sorry I'm not there, too! Alas, a day! But if we are a doomed tribe, we are doomed, that's all! And I am wasting time moaning over spilt milk! What can't be cured must be endured, you know. I must save the Queens and the babies, too, if I can. But how? Stay on the hilltop a moment longer, boy. Maybe the tide of battle has turned since you looked before. Stranger things have happened. What do you see, friend? Hurry, tell me!"

Peter looked, and almost toppled over backwards, he was so surprised. A' was now quiet on the battlefield behind him. The Ants seemed to be resting. Had they declared a truce? Just as the battle was nearly won, could it be possible that the Red Ants had made friends with the Blacks?

Peter forgot to lower his voice and called to Busy:

"All quiet on the front. The fighting has ceased. Maybe the Black ants are not going to lose the day after all. No sooner were the words out of Peter's mouth, than the boy took them back.

"I spoke too soon!" Peter screamed. "Run, Busy, run for your life. Our soldiers are resting only because they can fight no more. They are surrendering. The Red Ants are breaking through our lines! Hurry, hurry! The Redskins have almost reached the foot of Ant Hill. Now they are crashing the lower gates and breaking into the city. Run, Busy! Oh! why do you linger on?"

Next: "Black Ant Hill Falls."

"Junior Citizen" Issue Attractive

George Washington High Pupils Help In Preparation Of School Paper

Neatly bound in an attractive green cover, the most recent issue of "The Junior Citizen," George Washington junior high school's newsy school paper probably left a favorable impression on all who perused its pages.

"Touring Europe," one of this issue's features, came from the pen of Miss Helen Sonneborn, one of the school's teachers. She toured Europe this summer, making a particular study of Germany and Switzerland.

A variety of other features, prepared for the most part by the students. Editorials were also written by the student-editors, under the supervision of Miss Rose M. Uhl and Miss Verna Willett.

Handling the printing of the elaborate issue was the class of student-composers directed by the print shop supervisor, George R. Deuel.

No Extension For Use Of Old Auto Licenses

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—A great many Pennsylvanians did not receive applications for 1931 license plates because when they purchased new cars this year they attempted to avoid paying a transfer charge, and simply used old plates on the new machine according to Benjamin G. Eynon, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

"We have discovered dozens of these instances," said Eynon today, "and if any such owner is still waiting to receive an application he may as well give up hope—he won't get an application until his registration is properly on file here."

"Why not?" Mr. Eynon was asked. "Isn't his old registration in the file? Why won't he get an application if your force sends cards to all registered holders?"

"For the simple reason that when he traded in his old car the individual or company which got it effected a change in the title, of course. Therefore nothing is on file at Harrisburg to show that Cleve Jones, of Wapwallopen, or Pittsburgh, or wherever he lives, has any sort of a car—not if he neglected registration. Many dealers see personally that the proper change is made. On the other hand, many purchasers tell dealers they will take care of the formalities—and don't."

Registrations for 1931 continue to be far back of those for 1929, filed at this time last year, according to Eynon.

"It is beginning to look like another of the old-fashioned and un-

NEW CASTLE OUR CASTLE

by
The Woman's Club - Organized in 1887.

"GOD COULDN'T BE EVERYWHERE, SO HE MADE MOTHERS."
In this proverb, even the pagan recognizes in the mother, a God appointed guardian of the race.
Our own city knows no greater need than just such guardianship or nourishing—for our homes, for our schools, for our recreations and for our public housekeeping. To aid such work is the aim of this column.

VISITING SCHOOLS

"Oh, dear! What can the matter be? What can the matter be? Oh, dear, what can the matter be? Parents don't visit the school." This old time jingle will be recognized by many older readers who remember hearing it sung many years ago, which goes to prove that delinquency in school visiting is not confined to the present day. From the inference might be drawn that most of the ills of life could be avoided if parents would only "visit the school." To bring the rhyme strictly up to date, it should ring in some place that parents do not know what they are missing who do not "visit the school."

In this connection it might be well to note that one of the best reasons for school visiting is found in the visitor's becoming so interested and delighted in what he sees that for the time being at least he forgets that there is anything to criticize.

But of even greater importance is the fact that parents and the teachers of their children should know each other. For they have a very important interest in common—an interest with many problems many of which might be easily solved through talking it over together once in a while.

A state slogan for several years among those deeply interested in education in Pennsylvania has been "Know Your Schools". Reliable information concerning schools can be gained only at first hand. For while the child may mean to be perfectly just in the reports of school which he brings home, children are quite as subject to prejudices as their elders and many times overlook important considerations in drawing their conclusions.

And while parents may gain from their children at home a fairly good idea of their progress in school work, their comparative standing with other members in the class can only be gained through hearing them recite with others.

Among the so-called "frills and fads" which come in for so much criticism at the present time, is the health program being carried out under the direction of the school physician assisted by the school dentist, dental hygienists, and nurses together with the corps of health and physical training teachers.

In every branch of this work, the religious of cleanliness has been faithfully taught and the rules necessary to the attainment of cleanliness, rigidly enforced. In a few exceptional cases now and again, a mother has resented the infringement of her child's personal rights in remaining unwashed and has defied the school authorities to compel cleanly habits. In such extreme cases, the authority and aid of the city health officer has brought about the desired submission.

Some of the women who did their bit during the World war period by doing substitute teaching can testify to the need of this work at that time. For in some of the schools, a very disgusting feature of a work otherwise interesting and attractive was the filthy condition in which some of the children came to school.

The revolutionary change which has been brought about in this respect is little short of the marvelous. For clean faces, clean hands, clean teeth, tidy hair and clean sweet clothing seem to be general throughout the schools and where the need has been greatest the change is most noticeable. From the point of cleanliness alone, isn't that a tad worth while?

There seems to be no space left to tell of some of the other fads—of the music, the art and nature study—and the love of beauty the child is gaining from the study of these subjects. At any rate it is much better to leave as an incentive, the pleasure of drawing individual conclusions in your visits to the school in which you are especially interested.

Bold "Detectuff" Runs Afoul Of Law

Correspondence School Sleuth Falls Down When He Meets Real Cop

(International News Service)
DENVER, Colo., Dec. 5.—He was just a correspondence school sleuth but his ambition was unlimited. Linn Marcel, 36, of Denver working on a tremendously important "case" boarded a train at Cheyenne Wells, Colo. When the conductor demanded his ticket Marcel took the official into his confidence to the extent of informing him that he was a detective and didn't want to be bothered with such trifles.

He told the conductor he was trailing a man, but couldn't divulge the nature of the case. The conductor refused to recognize detective talent and turned Marcel over to Denver police.

Marcel was questioned by Acting Captain of Detectives George Eade. Marcel at first refused to name the agency he worked for. Eade mentioned a prominent Denver agency.

"Sure I work for them," Marcel said. "Well, do you know the superintendent?" Eade asked. "Sure, what's his name, I know them all."

"Do you know Seldom Sene?" "Sure I know him," Marcel answered. Eade sighed and ordered Marcel held for investigation.

Marcel told police he came to Denver recently from Hopkinsville, Ky.

Runs Over Coyote; Takes It For Dog

(International News Service)
COLORADO SPRINGS, Dec. 5.—Jimmy Donahue is rated one of the best posted men in these parts in matters relating to parachute jumping and aviation in general. But Jimmy's knowledge of wild animals has been sadly neglected. Donahue arrived at the city airport with his arms and legs somewhat scratched, and presenting in general a downcast appearance. Max Piele, caretaker, solicitously sought to cheer the parachute ace with mild inquiries.

"Tough luck," said Jimmy. "Just ran over a farmer's thoroughbred police dog down the road here, I'm afraid he'll die. Got him in the car here, but I'm due to buy the farmer a new dog, I guess."

Piele went out to the car with Donahue, hoping to be able to lend a hand. He drew back at first glimpse of the "police dog". It was a full-grown coyote, somewhat battered, but still alive, and looking able to add a few more scratches to those already adorning Donahue's flesh.

Card Index Loses Tuba Player's Wife

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 5.—The card-indexed loves of a tuba player recently won a divorce for Mrs. Beatrice Physter, 22, an entertainer in a Chicago night club. Mrs. Physter said she had discovered the romantic tabulations in a raid on her husband's apartment.

There were fifty cards, each listing a woman and her rating. A number were marked with one, two or three silver stars or with a gold seal. Such notations as "cute," "good drinker," and "petter" were frequent.

Some of the entries were: "Jessica, gold seal; approved; drinks, smokes, heavy petter; 18 years old, size 16, weight 109." "Melissa—very choice."

"Marie—cute, and how!—clank-clank!"

Stalin Helps Reds Buy An Airplane

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Dec. 5.—Joseph Stalin, head of the proletarian dictatorship in Soviet Russia, has donated 30 rubles ($15) to a fund for building an army airplane to which all red heroes who possess the Order of the Red Flag are contributing one month's pension.

The fund was started by an invalid pensioner named Chirkasov. He donated one month's pension of 30 rubles and challenged Stalin and a whole list of generals like Commander-in-Chief Voroshiloff, Budenny, chief of cavalry, and Blucher, commander of the Far-Eastern army, to do likewise.

The round-up of the Mt. Hope Junior Pig Feeding Club was held recently at the farm of Floyd Worrell.

Ross M. Gridley, County Agent of Beaver County scored the pigs and made the awards. All seven of the members of the Club completed the year and showed their pigs at the round-up. First place was won by Robert Walker, 2nd by Norman McCullough, 3rd by Howard Worrell, 4th by Floyd Worrell Jr., 5th by Frank Walker, 6th by John Walton, and 7th by Robert Walton.

The boys are looking forward to continuing Pig Club work next year, by developing into a Breeding Club instead of a Feeding Club.

POULTRY MEETING TO BE HELD

H. H. Kauffman, poultry specialist from State College will speak at the regular meeting of the North Beaver Poultry Club. The meeting will be held Tuesday, December the 9th at 2:00 p. m. at the farm of H. L. McCurley.

All members are urged to be present, and make an effort to have their records up to date at that time.

USE SEPTIC TANKS TO PROTECT WATER SUPPLY

Records of the 1930 drought not only include hardships to the farmers but they are written in the tragic figures of death.

"In their anxiety to obtain water during the long period of drought, Pennsylvanians have relaxed their vigilance in respect to the purity of supplies, with the obvious results—an increase in typhoid cases.

The November Vital Statistics Bulletin of the Pennsylvania Department of Health, "In September there were 355 cases reported, a total which has not been exceeded since September 1926."

Rural water supplies can be protected by the installation of a septic tank system of sewage disposal. Those interested are invited to use community form available for building such tanks. Complete instructions are contained in Circular 89, "Septic Tanks for the Farm," which may be obtained from the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Office.

INSURE STRAWBERRIES BY MULCHING PLANTS

To insure the strawberry bed for a good crop of shortcake fruit next year, careful attention must be given to winter protection.

Such care is especially important now because the adverse season has resulted in decreased stands and less vigorous plants than usual. Late fall rains have helped some of the runner plants to set. To protect them a mulch of 4 or 5 inches of clean oat straw should be put on the plants after the ground freezes.

If oat straw free from seeds is not available, then clean wheat or barley straw may be used. Marsh grass can be substituted for straw if it is available.

HEN PROFITS DEPEND ON SIZE OF EGG LAID

Accurate records kept throughout the year at the Vineland egg laying contest in New Jersey reveal how the size of eggs affected the profits for the year.

One hen laid a total of 193 eggs for the year; 21 of these were firsts, 153 seconds; and 19 peewees. The total value was $6.07. In the same group was a hen laying 197 eggs. Her eggs graded into 176 firsts and 21 seconds. They were worth $7.92, or $1.85 more than the value of other hen's eggs. This difference would nearly pay the cost of feeding a hen for one year.

Cutting Trees Said To Aid Forests

(International News Service) PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5.—People who delight in Christmas trees need not feel that they have robbed the nation's forests of a future giant by indulging in the holiday custom.

Cutting of young evergreens, if properly done, is a distinct aid to forest growth, according to forestry officials here.

If the trees are cut from crowded stands as a thinning operation; leaving the most vigorous trees to grow into valuable timber, a good work has been accomplished. Foresters find that several thousand young saplings may exist on an acre of ground in dense stands, while only a few hundred can ever mature.

Officials warned against wasteful cutting. Advice is being broadcast to farmers owning wood lots to be sure of their market before cutting their trees. Due to the unemployment situation this year many will turn to Christmas tree cutting as a source of revenue and as a result the market will probably be glutted, it was pointed out.

Police Dogs "Broken" For Not Getting Man

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Ten New York police dogs have been transferred to a Brooklyn precinct, symbol of disgrace.

They failed to catch the "pants burglar" who has caused sour breakfast table glances among Queens housewives, because huddles have come home with tails of rolls of bills fished neatly from their trouser pockets.

Finally the losses mounted to thousands of dollars, and wives decided the "pants burglar" was not a myth for nights when nothing better than a pair of jacks showed up.

An inspector and his detectives put a lot of time on the case and were forced to admit they could not distinguish a "pants burglar" in his off hours, so the 10 police dogs were put on the trail.

When the dog detectives were unleashed the robber made his best pickings within two or three blocks of where they were operating.

Because they never ever got within biting distance of the "pants

TREAT BAD DRIVERS LIKE POOR SPELLERS

(International News Service) DETROIT, Dec. 5.—Motorists, guilty of minor traffic law violations, who told Judge Sherman D. Callender in Traffic Court here that they could not pay the fine were given the same punishment children in school receive when they misspell words.

They were sentenced to join a class in the bull pen writing copies of the section of the ordinance they had violated and of the city's new speed ordinance. The number of copies varied in accordance with the driver's degree of guilt.

MAY CURB HORSE, DOG, RACES IN OHIO

(International News Service) COLUMBUS, O., The future of horse and dog racing in Ohio is doubtful following a decision by the Ohio State Supreme Court which held that the so-called contribution form of betting is illegal. There are several big race tracks in the state which have permitted this form of placing bets.

Religious Training For U. S. Soldiers

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5.—The average Regular Army soldier went to church fourteen times last year, it is indicated in the annual report of Colonel Julian E. Yates, Chief of Chaplains, U. S. Army.

At 18,791 religious services conducted on military reservations during the fiscal year ending June 30 last, there was an attendance of 1,741,890. Civilian clergymen performed 1,422 of these services. The figures do not include the large attendance of Army personnel at churches near military posts.

Increasing interest of clergymen in Army religious training is seen by the Chief of Chaplains' section of the Army Reserve, which now numbers 1,120 members, of whom 8 rank as lieutenant-colonels, 115 as majors, 520 captains, and 477 first lieutenants. Many of these are accepting calls to active duty for training purposes.

Innocent Autoist Injured By Bird

(International News Service) HARTLEY, Ia., Dec. 5.—Leaving in much the way that he entered although in the opposite direction, a pheasant visited the automobile of Dr. W. A. Hand here as the doctor was driving along the road.

The bird crashed through the windshield, fluttered a bit, and then made his exit through the rear window. Shattered glass struck Dr. Hand in the eye but at a Sioux City hospital where he was taken it was said that he will not lose his sight as a result of the accident.

Plans Of Princess Cause Of Concern

(International News Service) LONDON, Dec. 5.—The matrimonial future of the Princess Ingrid of Sweden is a keen topic of conversation in Britain.

This twenty-year old girl is now a guest of her maternal grandfather the Duke of Connaught, at Bagshot, and rumor couples her name with that of one of the King's sons. Undoubtedly the most beautiful unmarried Princess in Europe at the present time, she is a great favorite with both King George and Queen Mary, and the announcement of her engagement to any one of the three unmarried sons of the King would occasion no surprise.

This is all the more likely, because being a protestant, there would be no religious difficulty as in the cases of Spanish or Italian princesses.

The material found, which fills 84 large packing cases, will be sent to the Kiel Museum. Excavations will be resumed later.

WITH KASHASKIA IN THE HANDS OF THE AMERICANS, COL. CLARK ON JULY 5, 1778, SENT CAPT. BOWMAN AND 30 MEN, MOUNTED ON CAPTURED HORSES, TO SEIZE CAHOKIA, AN IMPORTANT BRITISH POST, 50 MILES AWAY ON THE MISSISSIPPI OPPOSITE ST. LOUIS. SOME FRIENDLY FRENCHMEN FROM KASHASKIA WENT WITH BOWMAN AS GUIDES.

IN THE MORNING OF THE 6TH THE CAVALCADE, AFTER A WILD, ALL-NIGHT RIDE, REACHED CAHOKIA. THE TOWN WAS TAKEN COMPLETELY BY SURPRISE. THE STARTLED FRENCH INHABITANTS WERE PUZZLED TO SEE SOME OF THEIR FRIENDS FROM KASHASKIA RIDING AMONG THE DREADED "LONG KNIVES" AND DEMANDING THE SURRENDER OF THE POST.

THE CAHOKIANS LISTENED WITH AMAZEMENT AS BOWMAN'S GUIDES TOLD THEM WHAT HAD TAKEN PLACE AT KASHASKIA, OF CLARK'S KIND TREATMENT OF THE CITIZENS, AND OF FRANCE'S ENTRY INTO THE WAR ON THE SIDE OF THE UNITED STATES.

THESE ARGUMENTS HAD THE DESIRED EFFECT. THE CAHOKIANS NOT ONLY SUBMITTED PEACEFULLY BUT VOTED TO BECOME FREE AMERICAN CITIZENS. BOWMAN AND HIS MEN TOOK POSSESSION OF THE POST AMID THE CHEERS OF THEIR ERSTWHILE ENEMIES.

TEAMS ARE READY FOR BIG GAME AT STADIUM

Both High School And Alumni Squads Hold Snappy Workouts Thursday

Players In Pink Of Condition For Benefit Game At Taggart Field

Both the high school and alumni squads are in fine fettle for the big benefit contest to be staged at Taggart Field Saturday, and one of the best games of the season is being eagerly awaited by the rabid fans of the city.

High school began preparing for the fray Wednesday and two snappy workouts have been held by the team. They will taper off with a light practice this afternoon. Coach Bridenbaugh stated this morning that his boys are in the pink of condition and anxious to show the old boys that size and experience are not everything in a football game.

The alumni boys, on the other hand, are just as eager for the fray. Some of the boys are a little out of shape, both in condition, and in physical condition. How some of those boys have grown during the past few years. That is, around the waistline.

Several new faces were seen at Taggart Field last evening, and by tonight, a squad of approximately 30 will be on hand for the final workout.

It is planned to start the entire 1932 team, the only first played under Coach Bridenbaugh, at the opening of the game Saturday, and they will form the shock troops being developed by Managing-Playing-coach, "Zip" Sargeant.

"Zip" himself will be at one of the terminals. Bill "Hippo" Twaddle, will take up one entire side of the line for a while. Bill has taken on a little more avoirdupois of late, and arrangements are being made to have a uniform built to order for his special benefit, as none could be found in town yesterday, which would "quite fit the bill."

"Toby" Fernetti, "Peg" Thomas, Burns and Twaddle reported for the squad last evening, and were drilled strenuously, along with the other boys who came out Wednesday night.

"Tommy" Harper, Ralph Day, Paul Redder, Cuba, Craft, and a number of the other boys who were unable to get around Wednesday and Thursday, will be present for the workout this evening.

Two backfield combinations were tried out. "Jimmy" Stone barked signals on the one, while Silman, called them on the other. "Johnny" Offutt, "Peg" Thomas, "Tippy" Richards, "Bob" Preston and Fernetti, all received a good workout, and were ready to call it quits when the session was called off at 9:30.

Another big crowd of Alumni backers was on hand to encourage the boys, several hundred fans swarming the field to see the old grads getting in shape. If the present brand of weather holds out, the stadium should be packed tomorrow.

The generous offer was immediately accepted. Just who will work the game has not been known as yet, but Forbes himself will be one of the trio.

Union Maidens Competing For Places On Blue And White Aggregation

Girls' basketball practice at Union high school will be climaxed when the coach, Miss Mary Mitchell, selects her team sometime this week. Workouts have been under way for several weeks.

The players are contesting for positions on the team and it is anticipated that the chosen team will provide stiff opposition for the teams in the county class A section. When the team is selected, a captain and student manager will be named.

The girls' first game will come December 12 when they oppose the Union alumni team. The first league game is scheduled with Shenango, December 19, at the Union gym.

Starting Monday, December 8, class basketball games will be inaugurated for the winter period. They will be played during the noon hour.

Basketball Games Here Friday Night

Four basketball games will be played in the church league at the Y tonight. The whistle will blow at 7:30 p. m., according to Director of Athletics Henry MacNicholas. The games follow:

A—First Methodists vs Highland United Presbyterians.
 B—Third United Presbyterians vs Second United Presbyterians.
 A—Wampus Presbyterians vs Croton Methodists.
 B—Finnish Lutherans vs Central Christians.

The church league games are well attended. Several of the tilts have been won by only a few points.

A novel ballot was that concerning favorite officials. "Red" Frissell received the largest number of votes for referee; "Dick" Hetra and "Tilly" Dewar as head linesman; and Al Slack and Cavanaugh as umpires.

New Castle Goes Through Light Workout On Thursday Afternoon At Taggart Field

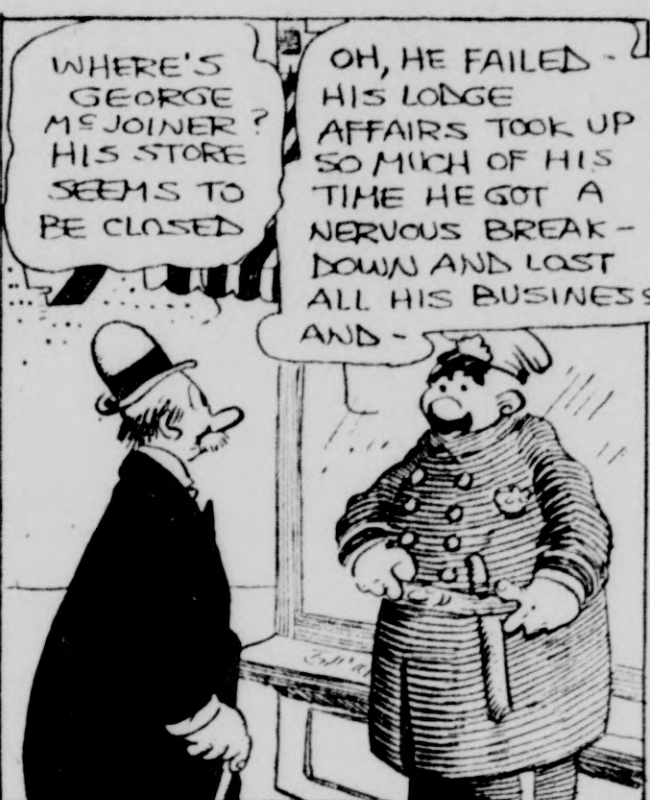

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh of the New Castle high school sent his Red and Black grid warriors through a light workout at Taggart Field on Thursday afternoon in preparation for Saturday afternoon when the high school eleven meets the Alumni in a benefit affair for needy school children.

The drill Thursday was a light one. First the griders kicked and passed the oval and then went through signal drills. Just what kind of a team Coach Bridenbaugh will start is not known. The final workout for the high school will be held today.

THEY CAN HAVE IT

Three Important Football Games Carded Saturday

Notre Dame And Southern California, Is Feature Game, On West Coast

By COPELAND C. BURG International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Notre Dame, Pennsylvania and Colgate are the probable winners of three of tomorrow's big football games.

The Irish complete a record schedule in facing Coach Howard Jones' Southern California eleven at Los Angeles, Penn and Navy meet in Philadelphia and Colgate and New York University play here in a charity game.

The eyes of a nation will be glued on the Trojan-Notre Dame fight for it not only brings together two finely coached teams made up of the flower of football material but if the Ramblers win they will be recognized again as National gridiron champions. If Colgate picks off the Violets, the upstate New Yorkers will tighten considerably their claims to the Eastern championship.

Two Stars Missing
 Notre Dame meets the men of Troy under three severe handicaps. The Ramblers will be without the services of two star backs, Savoldi and Mullins; they are competing the stiffest schedule in football history in which wear and tear on players has been topped by an ever increasing mental menace, knowing their string of victories eventually must be snapped; last week they played in severe cold, while tomorrow the day may be a dead ring for Indian summer.

Southern California has many advantages. A great team, a great coach and a great community behind them, the Trojans are playing at home; they have especially pointed for this game, they have thoroughly scouted Notre Dame and best of all they would die to win. Oh, how they want to win.

Southern California just claims to produce some of America's best athletes and how they adore a winner out there. Good is not enough in California—the best or nothing.

Irish Are Strong
 In Notre Dame's favor are three big points. The Ramblers are more experienced in that they have met better opponents than the Trojans, they naturally are lucky and when they get the break know what to do, and they have Frank Carideo, American's best quarterback.

The two teams are so evenly matched possibly a break in the game will decide the battle. Carideo is a past master in such a situation. He knows best just how to capitalize most on an opponent's one false move. Everyone admits to a match for Carideo the Trojans can match man for man pretty well with the invaders. The writer thinks the directing genius of the Irish quarter will be the deciding factor, just as it was in Notre Dame's victories over Northwestern and Army.

Colgate looks too big and powerful for the Violets. Len McCullois is a fearful back and New York University would be playing some what out of character to win Penn, with the possibilities of a great team, has disappointed in some games but stung by defeats, may rise to a supreme effort tomorrow and whip Navy.

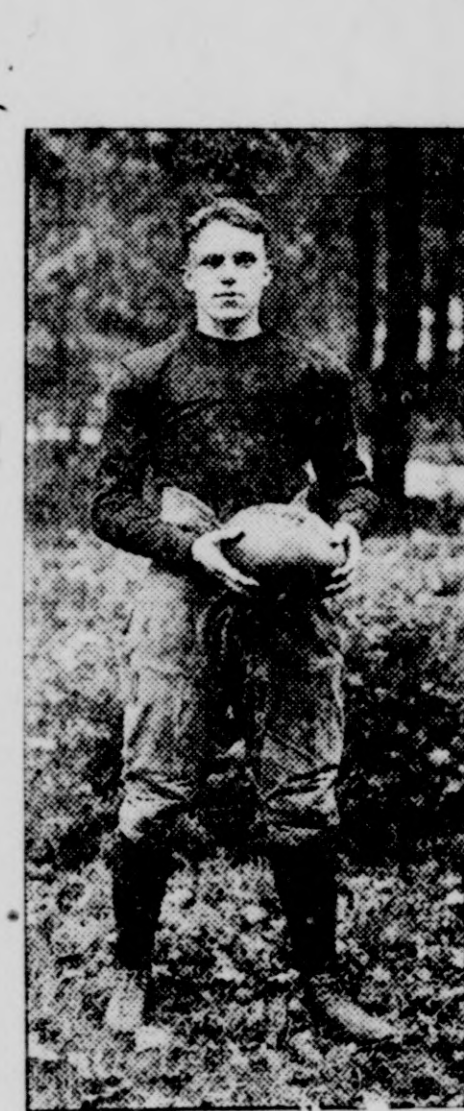

Carnegie Tech should win from Washington and Jefferson in Pittsburgh. Western Maryland is favored over Maryland. Georgia is raved better than Georgia Tech and Duke is fit to win from North Carolina. Florida is picked over Tennessee.

Union Gridders To Fete December 17

Union township high school's annual football banquet, honoring the team which won the coveted Lawrence county high school championship, will occur at Union on Wednesday, December 17, it was announced today.

It is the usual custom of the Parent-Teacher association of the township to serve the dinner.

ART CRAFT

Another fast trio of ex-high stars who are ready for action in Saturday's big benefit contest are the above trio, "Art" Craft, "Bill" Hammill, terminals, and "Tippy" Richards, half back.

Craft will report for practice this evening, having been unable to get away from his studies at Pitt, where he played on the Freshman team this fall.

Hammill is showing his old time form in the practices held so far, and was on the receiving end of the forward pass combination tried out last night.

"Tippy" Richards is also in the pink of condition, and worked in one of the backfield combinations tried out last night.

Favor Trojans To Beat Irish

Betting Commissioners Install Southern California As Favorites

By LES CONKLIN International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A flood of U. S. C. money sent by California clients to New York betting commissioners has made the Trojan eleven a strong favorite to halt the march of Notre Dame at Los Angeles tomorrow.

A week ago the game was an even money proposition. Today Southern California is the choice at 13 to 10.

Notre Dame's close call against Army, and the prediction of every Big Ten coach and several eastern mentors that the Trojans will win tomorrow, have emboldened U. S. C. rosters. They are laying even money here that the Ramblers lose by one touchdown.

Wagers of more than $100,000 on the game have been posted at two local commission houses alone, the betting being heavier than on any other gridiron battle this season. In thousands of business offices throughout the city, members of

Wrestling Bout Is Arranged For In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—Jimmy London, wily St. Louis grappler, will defend his claims to the world's heavyweight wrestling title on December 12 here by tackling Tiny Roebuck, gigantic millionaire Indian wrestler. The match was closed Thursday by Ray Fabiana, local wrestling promoter.

London won his title here last summer by defeating Dick Shikat, giant German sailor, at the Phillips' ball park. Roebuck has made impressive forward strides in the wrestling profession since his early appearances here last summer. In his last showing here Roebuck threw Dick Davis, the rough Texas and California wrestler, and did so thorough a task of squelching the westerner that Davis' court was forced to undergo treatment in a local hospital for several days.

Ask For Information On Point Award Plan Naming Champion Team

The News is in receipt of a number of queries asking how the winner of the W. P. I. A. L. football championship is reached and what kind of a point system is in use, whereby teams like Redstone and Monessen are accorded championship honors while others which play much harder schedules are eliminated.

We confess that we do not understand the intricacies of the system whereby the decisions are made, and we believe that it would be a service to the sport fans and the public that supports high school football in New Castle if Ralph Gardner, who is one of the committee that was at the decision meeting present a statement, outlining the method by which the decisions were reached.

An explanation of the W. P. I. A. L. point system would be most acceptable to all who are interested in high school football here.

Tech And W. & J. Elevens Ready

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—Reports emanating from the camps of Carnegie Tech and Washington and Jefferson today indicated both teams were primed and pointed for their seventeenth annual battle tomorrow played as a benefit game for unemployment relief.

Carnegie will use virtually the same lineup which so completely swamped Temple at Philadelphia two weeks ago. Looming as formidable contenders in the W. & J. lineup were such stars of the season as Rush, Wilson, Port and Smith.

The proceeds of tomorrow's contest will be turned over to Mayor Charles Kline's committee on unemployment. Use of the stadium for the contest was donated by the University of Pittsburgh.

Atlas carried the ball with comparative ease. Still, it is not known what he could have done with 11 husky blockers on his head.—The Detroit News.

With Tri-State College Cagers

With the football season preserved in some kind of juice to keep it from rusting until next fall, the Tri-State college campuses ring today with the thud of basketball against bankboards. The 1930 floor season is just around the corner.

The Westminster Titans, are hard at work in preparing for their basketball invasion this year. The Blue and White clad warriors, all giants in stature, will present a fine appearance when they trip onto the court for the first game. Nice new uniforms hang in the lockers.

Coach "Pops" Harrison, successor to Johnny Lawther, at Westminster is enthusiastic over the floor outlook at the United Presbyterian school and freely predicts that he will have the big boys battling for the Tri-State championship. It sure must gladden the heart of any coach to have the material that Harrison found at Westminster this year. Delahunty, O'Donovan, and Crowell will be sorely missed, but the others, Rice, Fisher, Brownlee, "Iams, etc., will carry on.

Coach Bob Thorn, has started his Grove City basketball team to work up in the Mercer County town, and will have them in shape for the opening game around Christmas with the Butler Paulists. The Groves following a poor showing last year are anxious to atone themselves. Thorn has a husky looking bunch to work with this year.

Some of the kick has been taken out of the Tri-State league this year by the absence of Duquesne. Always the Irish have good floor teams. They were fighting for the championship on quite a few occasions. They have two games carded with Westminster, but they are non-league affairs.

Coach Kenny Loeffler, has his Geneva team hard at work down in Beaver Falls. Leonard "Len" Friedman, former New Castle High star, and captain of the Geneva team last year, will be sorely missed when the season swings open. Friedman is one of the cleverest passers in the Tri-State.

The Pitt Panthers will have to struggle along without Eddie Baker their star guard for a while at least. Baker has decided that the trip to California with the All-East team is too good a proposition to pass up, and will forsake basketball till after the first of the year.

Local Grid Fan Picks All-Stars

W. B. Kilner, 415 East Hillcrest avenue, today submitted to The News sport department, his idea of what a real All-American football team should look like this year. Grantland Rice, who is looked upon as the "picker", may and may not get any ideas from scanning the list composed by the local man, but we are forced to admit that the eleven stars picked today would go many places on any gridiron.

Here they are:
 L. E.—Baker, Northwestern.
 L. T.—Singleton, Alabama.
 L. G.—Metzger, Notre Dame.
 C.—Tichnor, Harvard.
 R. G.—Woodworth, Northwestern.
 R. T.—Van-Bibber, Purdue.
 R. E.—Fessler, Ohio State.
 Q. B.—Carideo, Notre Dame.
 L. H.—Schwartz, Notre Dame.
 R. H.—Dufield, Southern Cal.
 F. B.—Macaluso, Colgate.

Football Abandoned By Loyola, Chicago

President Of Loyola University, Chicago, Makes Announcement Today

Will Foster Intra-Mural Athletics—Opened New Stadium This Year

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Having abolished football as an inter-collegiate sport, Loyola University today through its president, the Rev. Robert M. Kelley, S. J., issued a statement criticizing the gridiron as a "competitive entertainment agency."

Announcement that the University has abandoned the game is the intercollegiate sport came at the close of a season which has been the most successful financially in the institution's history.

No dissatisfaction with the team's showing was responsible for the move, it was announced.

The Rev. Kelley, in his report stated that football as it is now administered does not serve the chief purpose for which athletics should be fostered, namely, the physical development of the entire student body.

Use New Stadium
 "It is our belief that the interest and appeal of these spectacular games are getting away from the college and universities and their students, and are being centered on the public, or in other words, the colleges and universities are competing with entertainment agencies for the patronage of the public." Father Kelley's announcement rendered stress will be placed on intramural football and the other spectacular intercollegiate sports will go on as before at the University.

The 1930 football season was the player's first full season at home in their new concrete stadium which had been equipped with floodlights for night games.

Philly Nationals Likely To Be Sold

Death Of William F. Baker May Result In Sale Of National League Club

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—That the death of William F. Baker, president of the Phillies, in Montreal yesterday will result in the sale of the Philadelphia National League franchise seemed to be the consensus of opinion in local baseball circles today.

In any event a new directing head for the club will have to be obtained. Consequently the names of numerous prospective buyers are being freely discussed among the local baseball fans and players.

The names of Ty Cobb, George M. Cohan, Thomas L. Turner, president of the Portland club, and Al Lang, former mayor of St. Petersburg, Fla., were mentioned as men who are willing to take over the club.

Peace Between Major And Minor Leagues Is Effected At Montreal

Final Session Of Baseball Magnates Finds Peace In Air, Instead Of War

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Sports Writer

MONTREAL, Dec. 5.—Peace, and not war, between the major leagues and the "big minors" on the highly controversial draft question was effected today at the final session of the annual convention of the National association of 21 minor leagues. After warlike gestures from both sides, cool heads have stepped in and are paving the way for a restoration of diplomatic relations. The entire controversy may be ironed out at the joint session of the National and American Leagues in New York next week.

A committee of 12, representing the five important minor leagues that have been at dagger points with the majors on this issue, has been appointed with full power to deal with the majors any time the latter want to talk the situation over with the minors. The majors early this week severed all business relations with the five recalcitrant minor leagues, namely the American Association, the International League, the Pacific Coast League, the Western and Three-Eye League.

Accord Is Sought
Manager John F. McGraw, of the New York Giants and William L. Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs, were among the cooler heads who stepped into the breach and advised an amicable adjustment of the trouble between the majors and the minors. They conferred with many prominent minor league officials. McGraw is reported to have said in effect:

"Let's settle this thing. We're all in baseball and it would be best for all concerned if we get together on this draft question. Peace would be better than war for all of us."

Numerous long distance telephone calls were put in from Montreal to big league club officials. The whole idea back of the calls was to call off the war. There was considerable discussion of yesterday's joint ultimatum from President John Heydler of the National League and President Ernest S. Barnard, who sent telegrams to the "big minors" saying: "Take the draft law as outlined at the Cleveland meeting or leave it. To leave it means open warfare."

The peace factions, now in the ascendancy, took the position that the majors and minors both need each other and that it would be for the good of baseball if the olive branch was extended, the sooner the better.

Duquesne To Play Opening Game In City

Will Be Here When St. Mary's Athletic Association Starts Its Season

St. Mary's Athletic Association will open its local basketball season on the evening of December 29. Duquesne university's five runner-up to the championship Westminster quintet in the 1930 tri-conference race, will be the opponents of the St. Mary's aggregation on this occasion.

Arrangements for the game were completed by Jockey Travers of the Saints in a telephone conversation held yesterday with Coach Chick Davies of the Ducks.

The game will be played on St. Mary's floor, located in the old St. Mary's church building on Beaver street.

A "pep" meeting, the object of which is to create rooster backing for the "Saints", will be the feature of a smoker scheduled for next Monday evening, when all male members of St. Mary's church, will be guests of the association officers.

Major Guy J. Wadlinger, commander of Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, American Legion, will be the principal speaker at the smoker. Boxing and music will also be included in the program.

Rogers Hornsby Ready To Play In 1931 Season

Chicago Cubs Manager Will Likely Fill Second Base Job Next Year

(Copyright, 1930, by International News Service)

MONTREAL, Dec. 5.—Three of the most illustrious personages in baseball—John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Chicago Cubs and Donie Bush, manager of the Chicago White Sox—are among the hundreds of baseball men gathered here at the annual convention of the minor leagues. The trio, interviewed separately by the writer, made these assertions:

1.—McGraw said that under no circumstances will he sell or trade Freddie Lindstrom, his third baseman, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding.

2.—Hornsby declared he is in fine physical condition and that he plans to play second base for the Cubs next season.

3.—Bush, a great shortstop in his day, said that Luke Appling, shortstop for Atlanta last season, has a great chance to make the grade as the White Sox's regular shortstop next season. Bush further declared that he is willing to trade any player on the White Sox with the exception of three players—Pitchers Lyons and Thomas and Outfielder Reynolds.

Five Good Teams

Asked his opinion of the apparent "break" between the important minor leagues and the two major leagues over the draft question, McGraw declared:

"It will be hard on the minors if there is a war between them and us. By next December 1 they will be crying to restore relations with the majors. They need us more than we need them."

"There will be five clubs in the National League that will be hard to beat in 1931," said Hornsby. "They are St. Louis, Chicago, Brooklyn, New York and Pittsburgh."

"Appling has plenty of speed and no man in the business has a better throwing arm," said Bush. "I tried him out during the ten days I had him at the end of last season."

Speaking of shortstops, Bush said in his opinion Charley Gelbert, St. Louis Cardinals shortstop, was the class of the major leagues.

Policeman Tries To Rescue Dummy

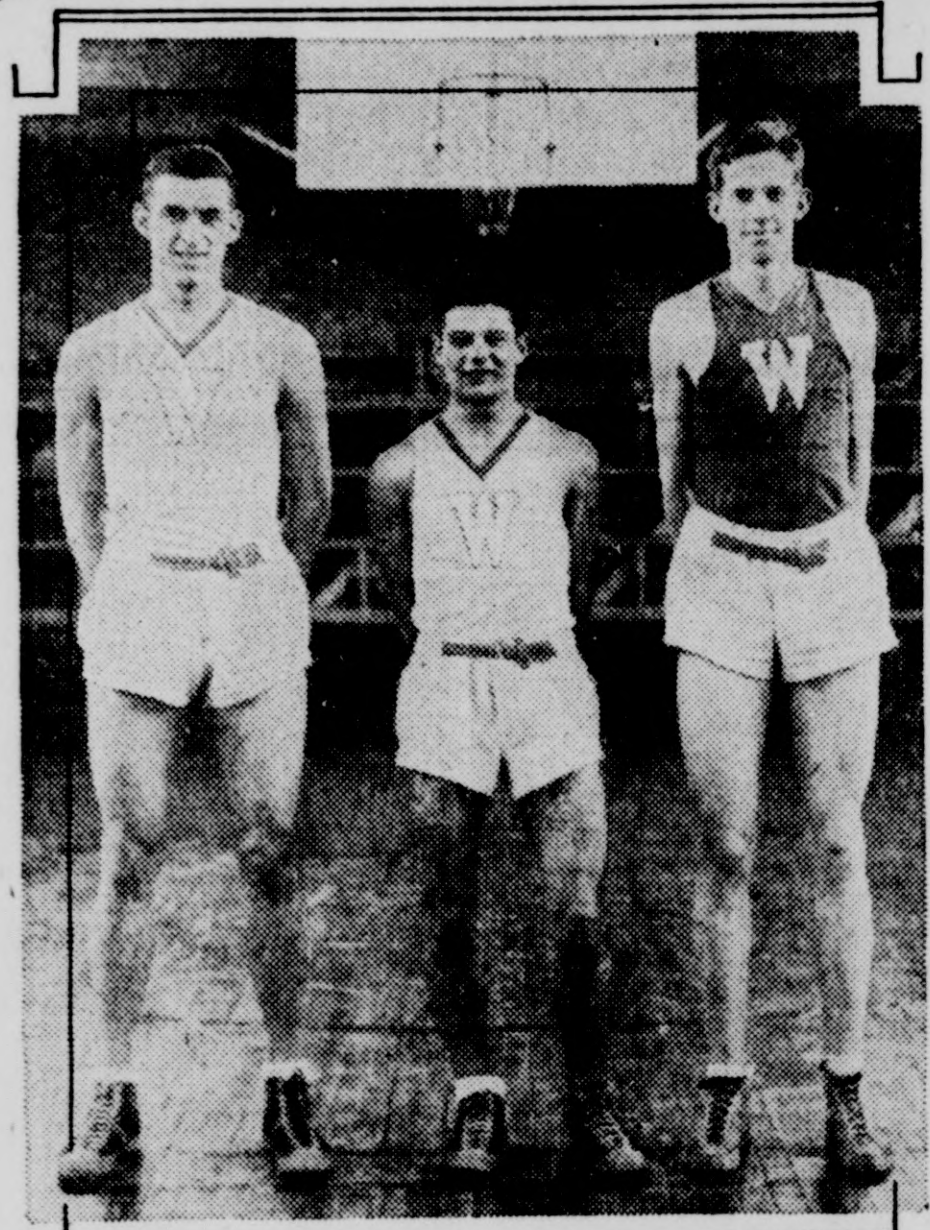

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A man collapsed in a store fire here—the big dummy.

Patrolman Charles Baumann was just on the verge of making a heroic rescue, too. He saw a drapery window burst into flames, and a male figure in the window fell forward into the blaze.

The policeman dashed inside to the rescue, only to be told that the figure was but a clothing dummy, and the loss was not great.

HERE'S THE LONG AND SHORT ON WESTMINSTER COURT TEAM

District fans will have the monotony of giant players on the Westminster College basketball team relieved a bit this year if John "Jinx" Hamas, brother of Steve and Mike of Penn State fame, continues to show up as well as he has in early season drills. Hamas, a forward 5 feet 6 inches tall, is shown standing between two Titan centers available for this year's campaign. They are Harry Brownlee, left, 6 feet 5 inches tall, and William Williams, right, 6 feet 6 inches tall. When fans ask about prospects of another great team at Westminster, Coach "Pops" Harrison points to these three boys and says, "That's the long and short on it."

Spying On Sports

by BILL RITT

Down into the musty American league cellar, far from the sunlight that gleams on world series, goes John (Shano) Collins, veteran outfielder, to see what he can do to revive the dim Boston Red Sox fortunes.

Since Ed Barrow's day four other pilots have attempted to rescue the red robed crew from the dungeon and each has left the job with the Sox still below stairs.

The job looks as hopeless today as it did in 1922 when Barrow, who won the last pennant for the Red Sox in 1918, quit to become business manager of the Yankees.

The late Frank Chance tried it in 1923 and dropped the business after a year's trial. Lee Fohl had a three-year spell at the helm, from 1924 to 1926, without getting anywhere. Bill Carrigan, the old Red Sox idol, returned in 1927, but three years of cellar traveling was enough for him. Heine Wagner tried it this year with this same result.

All these men were smart baseball leaders. They knew their stuff but the Sox didn't have the talent.

Today the outlook is as gloomy as it ever was. However, in view of President Bob Quinn's desperate attempt to land Joe McCarthy, ex-Cub pilot, at "any cost," indicates that the Red Sox purse strings may be a bit more loosened than they have been.

There's a reason for the Sox and the Red Sox are their first love. And Boston fans are not as disheartened as they have been in past years. They watched a miracle this summer in the St. Louis Cardinals who, from a badly slumping team in 1929, under a new manager snapped into pennant winning form.

If a ball club on the down grade can reverse the field under an untired manager why cannot the Sox have hopes for at least partial success under Collins, who knows his baseball and served a managerial apprenticeship before coming to the Hub?

Sords Points

—By Jack Sords

Fay Thomas, Champ Traveler Of Baseball Now With Tribe

Fay, but a month later he was suspended for having left the club without his employer's consent. He was also ordered to refund $2,500 paid him by the Giants.

Reinstated Thomas was sent to Oklahoma City. Again suspended in 1928, he was reinstated and reported to the Oaks, that club later selling him to the Yankees.

The Yanks figured Thomas wouldn't make the grade and early in 1929 shipped him to Baltimore. Baltimore sent Fay to New Haven. New Haven turned him over to Sacramento.

Seeing Thomas pitch some wonderful ball last summer, Business Manager Billy Evans of the Indians drafted him for his club—and there he is.

Thomas enjoyed a fine strikeout record last season in coast circles. He fanned 186 batters during the year. In one extra inning game Thomas whiffed 17 opposing batters and in a nine-inning fracas made 15 bite the dust of his speed.
